Rules are few and fussiness is frowned upon in UNBOUNDED, a visual celebration of diverse patterns, textures and colors. In this latest look at Bohemian-inspired styling, we're mixing regional and folkloric motifs, vibrant and colorful accessories, and modern embellishments to create a convincing and cosmopolitan show of personal expression.

Greens that promise renewal and growth create a backdrop for interiors and tablescapes in 2017. These upbeat greens will reinforce tropical-inspired themes in the year ahead, plus strengthen indoor/outdoor living and decorating trends. Trendwatch is going several shades darker for Spring 2017 (more dried kale, less moringa powder) — we gravitate to greens such as Benjamin-Moore's Salamander 2050-10, a changeable blackened green, or Sherwin-Williams' deep blue-cast green, Cascades 7623. These moody hues set a stage for our most traditional vignette to date in which we present (updated) traditional casegoods, classic upholstery silhouettes, and up-market decorative accessories and area rugs. These modern heirlooms may lack centuries-old provenance, but they offer plenty of artistry and panache.

Urban environments transition to suburban floor plans as older Millennials achieve new wealth and reach the crossroads of marriage and family. This season's TRANSITIONS vignette illustrates this natural migration pattern in a two-part story of scale and functionality. Just when you think you've figured out the wants and needs of Millennials, who are forecasted to outspend Baby Boomers in 2017, an even more powerful and plentiful set is waiting in the wings … Generation Z.
