PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear friends,

Astonishing things show up in the mail (and the email) of a university president. Last month, I received a showstopper: mid-19th century scrip issued by Mount Union College.

The scrip highlights important and enduring attributes of Mount Union. It celebrates the comprehensive nature of the college, noting CLASSICAL, SCIENTIFIC, NORMAL, MUSICAL, FINE ART, AND COMMERCIAL departments. Mount's commitment to opportunity and access is made obvious: MT. UNION COLLEGE ADMITS BOTH SEXES, AT ANY TIME, IN EACH DEPARTMENT. The currency trumpets a fact we celebrate today: This college possesses first-class educational facilities.

Most of all, the scrip embodies the focus on experiential learning at Mount Union. It supported instruction in the institution's "actual" or "commercial" business education program, which focused on the business practicalities of recording transactions and balancing accounts in banks and railroad offices. Students needed money to practice with, so Mount Union printed it!

The University still emphasizes "hands-on" learning experiences for students. The generous help of thousands of Mount Union Fund and scholarship donors - who are highlighted in the Honor Roll - makes it possible.

Thanks for all you do for Mount Union!
Best regards,

Dick

MOUNT UNION NURSING GRADUATES ACHIEVE 100 PERCENT LICENSURE PASSAGE RATE

With an achievement that is rare among new nursing programs nationwide, the 2017 graduates of Mount Union's nursing program achieved a 100 percent passage rate on the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX).

Mount Union, which recently graduated its first class of students in its Bachelor of Science in Nursing program, bested the 2016 national average of 87.6 percent and the 2016 Ohio average of 85.5 percent in its students' first attempt.

"This is a testimony to the quality of education the nursing students received at Mount Union, as well as the hard work of the faculty and the challenge that the students have to endure during their tenure at Mount Union," said Dr. Nezam Al-Nsair, professor and chair of the Department of Nursing at Mount Union.

NCLEX is an exam organized by the National Council of State Boards of Nursing, which is "dedicated to developing psychometrically sound and legally defensible nurse licensure and certification examinations consistent with current practice."

MOUNT UNION EARNS NATIONAL RECOGNITIONS FROM COLLEGES OF DISTINCTION

Because of its commitment to high-impact educational practices, Mount Union has been named one of the nation's Colleges of Distinction.

Mount Union has created a unique learning environment where students not only earn college credit and valuable life experiences, but they also participate in character-building service-learning programs, interdisciplinary programs, collaborative projects, undergraduate research, study abroad opportunities, and internships.

Mount Union was also recognized as a College of Distinction for its academic programs in business, engineering, education, and nursing.

The annual process of selecting the nation's Colleges of Distinction requires that institutions adhere to the "four distinctions" - engaged students, great teaching, a vibrant community, and successful outcomes. This process also includes a review of each institution's freshman experience, general education program, strategic plan, alumni success, satisfaction measures, and more.

To view Mount Union's Colleges of Distinction profile, visit collegesofdistinction.com/school/university-mount-union.

"Colleges of Distinction applauds Mount Union for pushing the envelope with its up-to-date curriculum and providing every student with an education that stretches far beyond what's typically required from an academic major."

MOUNT UNION ADDS MEN'S VOLLEYBALL

Mount Union has decided to add men's volleyball to the intercollegiate athletic program. The team will start competition in the spring of 2019.

"This addition advances our strategic plan," said Dick Merri-man, president of Mount Union. "An emerging and exciting sport like men's volleyball is the perfect fit for our vibrant athletic program."

Mount Union, an NCAA Division III institution, is a member of the Ohio Athletic Conference (OAC), but the Purple Raider men's volleyball team initially may compete as an independent as the OAC does not currently sponsor the sport.

The OAC, along with the Pro Football Hall of Fame and the Stark County Convention and Visitors Bureau, are the hosts for the 2022 NCAA Division III Men's Volleyball Championship at Johnson Controls Pro Football Hall of Fame Village.

The sport of men's volleyball has seen tremendous growth in recent years, especially at the high school level.

The Ohio High School Boys Volleyball Association (OHSBVA) serves as the governing body and has seen the sport split into two divisions, with almost 90 high schools in the state sponsoring men's volleyball.

In nearby Pennsylvania, the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association (PIAA) sponsors a boys volleyball championship with nearly 200 high school teams offering the sport.

The addition of the team will bring the total number of athletic teams at Mount Union to 24. Mount Union currently sponsors intercollegiate athletic teams in men's and women's soccer, men's and women's cross country, football, women's volleyball, men's and women's basketball, men's and women's swimming and diving, wrestling, baseball, softball, men's and women's tennis, men's and women's golf, men's and women's lacrosse, and men's and women's track and field.

MATT MIHELIC NAMED HEAD MEN'S VOLLEYBALL COACH

Mount Union has named Matt Mihelic as its first-ever head men's volleyball coach.

Mihelic spent the last two years as the boys' program director for the Ohio Valley region of USA Volleyball. He has been responsible for the participation and growth of boys' volleyball in a region that includes Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, and West Virginia. The program has seen substantial growth in many areas, particularly in the 12U and 14U levels and in the creation of a 12U regional championship.

From 2003 to 2015, Mihelic was the head boys volleyball coach at Archbishop Hoban High School in Akron, Ohio, where he led the Knights to five regional championships, two state runner-up finishes, and state championships in 2008 and 2010. He had a win-loss record of 211-90, winning the Ohio High School Boys Volleyball Coach of the Year Award in 2008 and North Region Coach of the Year honor three times. He is a past regional director and former president of the Ohio High School Boys Volleyball Association.

Mihelic was a four-year starter and two-time captain on the men's volleyball team at Mercyhurst University in Erie, Pennsylvania, and holds a bachelor's degree in communications.

COMPETITIVE CHEER AND DANCE TO BE OFFERED AT MOUNT UNION

The University has announced that it will add competitive cheer and dance to the institution's student life offerings. The teams will begin practice in the fall of 2018 with plans to start competition in the spring of 2019.

"We are pleased to add these programs to enrich our students' experiences," said Dick Merriman, president of Mount Union. "We look forward to the success of these teams and know they will be great ambassadors for Mount Union."

The addition of competitive cheer and dance is an expansion of the University's current sideline cheerleading squad and dance team, both of which have played important roles in the Mount Union athletics tradition for decades.

The popularity of competitive dance and cheer at the high school level has been on the rise, with an estimated four million cheerleaders nationwide and about half as many involved with competitive dance teams. Additionally, an estimated 1.5 million are involved in all-star cheerleading outside of their high schools.

The National Federation of State High School Associations ranks spirit squads as ninth in popularity among high school sports and activities.

The University will become only the second Ohio Athletic Conference institution to offer competitive cheer and the first to establish a competitive dance team. Since competitive cheer and dance is not an NCAA sport, Mount Union will be able to award talent-based scholarships for qualified students.

COMMUNITY GATHERS TO CELEBRATE THE LIFE OF RALPH REGULA '48

"He was a man who loved his wife, his family, his farm, and his country."

That was simply one of the ways that Bill Blair, Esq. summed up the life of the late Ralph Regula '48, retired United States congressman, at a Celebration of Life held in Regula's honor following his passing on July 19 at the age of 92.

More than 250 people were in attendance at the event, which was held on campus, to share their condolences with the family and remember the life of the 19-term congressman.

All three children of Ralph and Mary (Rogusky '48), Martha, David '74, and Richard, spoke at the event and remembered the impact their father had on both them and the community.

"I didn't get the public speaking gene, the political gene, or even the Republican gene," Martha joked. "But everyone needs that person in the family to make Thanksgiving a little more interesting."

David '74 followed in the footsteps of his parents in graduating from Mount Union. He spoke about the integral part the University played in his parents' lives.

"Today we celebrate the life and the love he found on this campus at Mount Union," David said. "Who knows, maybe my parents' very first kiss was right beside us at the campus lakes."

"Watching him campaign at the fair and talk to everyone gave me a role model for wanting to go into public service," said Richard, Ralph and Mary's youngest son and Stark County commissioner. "He was a true public servant who always just wanted to help people."

Ralph and Mary were married an incredible 67 years, and their love shone brightly through the remarks of those who spoke at the Celebration of Life.

Ralph was a remarkable alumnus, supporter, and friend of Mount Union, and he will be dearly missed. His legacy on campus is one that will be reflected by the generations of past, present, and future students who have the ability to serve their own communities the way Ralph did for his entire life.

HAYDEN TO PRESENT SCHOOLER LECTURE

General Michael Hayden, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) and the National Security Agency (NSA), will present the 2018 Schooler Lecture at Mount Union.

He will present “Hot Spots at Home and Around the World” at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, April 17, 2018 in the Timken Gymnasium of the McPherson Academic and Athletic Complex. The evening will consist of a discussion with Hayden, who is a retired four-star general. He served as director of the CIA and NSA when the course of world events was changing at a rapid rate. As head of the country’s premier intelligence agencies, he was on the front lines of global change, the war on terrorism, and the growing cyber challenge.

Hayden understands the dangers, risks, and potential rewards of the political, economic, and security situations facing us. He dissects hot spots around the world, analyzing the tumultuous global environment, the impact of the recent U.S. election, and what it all means for Americans and America’s interests. He speaks on the delicate balance between liberty and security in intelligence work, as well as the potential benefits and dangers associated with the cyber domain.

Complimentary tickets for the Schooler Lecture will be available beginning in January. More information about the 2017-2018 Lecture Series is available at mountunion.edu/lecture-series.

BLUEDORN ACCEPTED INTO COMPETITIVE INTERNATIONAL GRADUATE PROGRAM

Jenna Bluedorn '17 of Boardman, Ohio, was accepted into the International Business Culture and Languages program at Oxford Brookes University in Oxford, United Kingdom.

Bluedorn, a public relations and Spanish double major, is one of 10-15 students accepted into the program from across the world.

She will study on the Oxford Brookes campus from September 2018 to January 2019 and take classes in international business, foreign affairs, and intercultural communication. For the following nine months, Bluedorn will work in a multinational organization anywhere in the world and write a 15,000-word dissertation. Upon completion of the work placement and dissertation, she will receive a Master of Arts degree.

“From the day I began my study abroad program in Costa Rica, I knew that I was not meant to stay in the United States for the rest of my life. I knew I was meant to travel, explore, and become a citizen of the world,” said Bluedorn.

“I’ve respected Jenna’s international perspective on all she does,” said Dr. Jamie Capuzza, professor and chair of the Department of Communication. “From her study abroad experience in Costa Rica to her research on immigration and terrorism, Jenna has a mature and nuanced perspective on the world around her. The Oxford Brookes program is lucky to have her, and I’m convinced Jenna will make the most of this amazing experience. It is students like her that make me hopeful about our future, and I can’t wait to see how she makes a difference.”

MOUNT RANKED BY U.S. NEWS AND WORLD REPORT FOR 27TH CONSECUTIVE YEAR

For the 27th consecutive year, Mount Union has been cited as a top college by U.S. News and World Report.

BIOCHEMISTRY MAJOR MASON '18 SCORES IN THE MCAT TOP ONE PERCENT

Alliance native Thomas Mason '18, a biochemistry and Spanish double major and captain of the varsity basketball team at Mount Union, proved that he excels both on and off the court by scoring in the top one percent on the Medical College Admission Test (MCAT).

This achievement came as a result of a lot of preparation. Mason studied from MCAT preparation books and even took part in a preparation class taught by Dr. Keith Miller, assistant professor of chemistry and biochemistry. Mason said he studied for an average of 30 hours per week over the summer while training and working a summer job.

A captain on the Mount Union men's basketball team, Mason believes being part of the team has helped him when it comes to getting good grades in school and being prepared to work hard in all of his classes.

"Hard work is a lifestyle," Mason often tells his teammates. "If you're lazy on the court, you'll be lazy off the court. It applies to the classroom in the same way."

After taking the MCAT, Mason is now preparing to apply to medical schools. So far, he has decided to apply to Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, Harvard Medical School, and the Stanford University School of Medicine.

"I'm a firm believer that God has given us all gifts," he said. "My gift is that I'm pretty smart, and I love learning about physiology and the body."

His desire to go into the medical field stems from his passion for learning and his drive to help people as a career.

Mason's goal is to earn his doctorate in internal medicine. He would like to one day treat people dealing with sports injuries.

LARRY KEHRES '71 INDUCTED INTO THE COLLEGE FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

On Tuesday, December 5, the National Football Foundation (NFF) and College Football Hall of Fame hosted its 60th NFF Annual Awards Dinner at the New York Hilton Midtown with former Mount Union head football coach and current athletic director Larry Kehres '71 as one of the inductees.

Founded in 1947, the NFF and College Football Hall of Fame is a non-profit educational organization that runs programs designed to use the power of amateur football in developing scholarship, citizenship, and athletic achievement in young people.

Other members of the class include Bob Crable, Marshall Faulk, Kirk Gibson, Matt Leinart, Peyton Manning, Bob McKay, Dat Nguyen, Adrian Peterson, Mike Ruth, Brian Urlacher, Danny Ford, and Steve Spurrier.

Kehres is in his 42nd year at Mount Union. He returned to his alma mater in 1974 as an assistant football coach and as the first head coach of the swimming program. In 1985, Kehres was named director of athletics and, in 1986, he added head football coach duties, which he continued until 2013. Now, he is an associate professor of physical education in addition to serving as the director of athletics.

Under Kehres, the football team won 23 Ohio Athletic Conference Championships (1986, 1990, 1992-2012) while posting 21 undefeated regular seasons (1986, 1990, 1992, 1993, 1995-2004, 2006-2012) and claiming 11 NCAA Division III National Championships (1993, 1996-1998, 2000-2002, 2005, 2006, 2008, 2012).

In total, Kehres' career coaching record of 332-24-3 (.929) makes him one of only 10 coaches in the history of college football to win at least 300 games.

For his efforts, he was named American Football Coaches Association Regional Coach of the Year a record 17 times, AFCA National Coach of the Year eight times, OAC Coach of the Year six times and, in 2008, became the second-ever NCAA Division III winner of the Liberty Mutual National Coach of the Year award.

Kehres has been an active member of the American Football Coaches Association (AFCA), serving on the board of directors and completing a term as AFCA president. He also lent his coaching talents to international competition in the summer of 2011 when he served as offensive coordinator for the U.S. National Football team as it won the gold medal in the World Championships in Austria.

DEFENSE DOMINATES AS PURPLE RAIDERS CLAIM 13TH NATIONAL TITLE

The University of Mount Union football team rode a Herculean defensive effort coupled with just enough offense to capture its 13th NCAA Division III national title, a 12-0 victory over defending champion the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor, in the 45th Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl.

It marked the first time Mary Hardin-Baylor was shut out since its first year of football in 1998. It was the first Stagg Bowl shutout since 1982 and the lowest scoring Stagg Bowl in history.

Mount Union took the first lead of the game when Gabe Brown '20 picked off a Robinson pass at the Crusader 47-yard line with 5:46 remaining in the second quarter. Eleven plays later, Louthan converted a 31-yard field goal to give the Raiders a 3-0 lead that they took into the locker room at halftime. It marked the first time Mary Hardin Baylor trailed all season.

The two teams went toe-to-toe for three quarters with the Mount Union field goal being the lone score during that time frame. The Purple Raiders took control in the fourth quarter when D'Angelo Fulford '20 hit Justin Hill '20 with a 42 yard touchdown pass with 11:17 remaining. The extra point by Alex Louthan '18 gave the Raiders a 10-0 lead.

Less than a minute later, Nick Brish '19 pinned UMHB quarterback Carl Robinson in the end zone to take a 12-0 lead. Brish was named the most outstanding player. From there, the defense continued its outstanding effort and the Crusaders never threatened. Mount recorded its highest sack total of the season with eight.

The Raiders yielded 144 total yards, 38 on the ground on 42 attempts and Brish led the team with 10 tackles.

The BUSINESS of ENGINEERING

by Dr. Chad Korach

Assistant Professor of Mechanical Engineering

Engagement between engineers and management has taken place since the earliest existence of engineering...

The first engineers were involved with bettering the military of a queen, a pharaoh, a king, or an emperor. The engineer's bosses held the purse strings and mainly dictated what needed to be done and at what cost. Simultaneously, engineers that tinkered, either on their own time or under the auspices of development for their boss, were creating new ideas that helped not only further their own careers but society as a whole. These developments led to large-scale infrastructure projects, many of which society still benefits from today.

Fast forward to the modern engineer who wears many hats, from technical expert to project manager to business owner. The distance between engineers and management has continued to shrink, where expectations for engineers to understand basic business concepts has become the norm. Be it an engineer working at a Fortune 500 company or a self-employed consultant, the need to connect engineering and business skills stems from the necessity to provide value in an efficient manner. Knowledge of payback periods on a project, cost estimates, and planning tools are only the starting point. Engineers with the understanding of the necessity of risk, a customer's/client's needs, and the importance of taking action are tapping into the core of the entrepreneurial mindset.

At Mount Union, the connection between engineering and business is one of the four pillars of exceptional engineering education upon which our engineering programs are based, along with communication skills, global engineering experience, and hands-on engineering education.

I first became engaged with the connection between engineering and business when I started working with Mike Kachilla, associate professor of management. Mike and I have worked for the last four years on introducing engineering and business students to each other through project-based learning. Students in the Introduction to Business course determine a need based upon their own ideas and research.

Ideas that are product related are then passed from Mike to me, and I introduce them to engineering students in the Product Design and Development course. The engineering students are charged with determining the needs of potential customers as they develop design alternatives, ultimately decide on a final design, and build a working prototype.

During the semester, engineering and business students are encouraged to meet with each other to discuss the ideas and the progress of the development. In the spring of 2017, a group of engineering and business students developed an electric personal paraglider (ePPG) (as pictured on cover) that ran on rechargeable battery power instead of relying on the traditional gas-powered engines, which you can see on the cover of this magazine. Not only was this an environmentally-conscious design alternative, but their design provided a unique four-propeller drive made possible with the use of electric motors. This was an impressive project designed and built between engineering and business students in one semester!

Entrepreneurship skills are traditionally thought of as being needed by those who want to start or own their own business. Many engineers fall into this category, but the majority do not. An entrepreneurial mindset can be applied to not only starting or owning a business, but also to how one approaches problem solving, develops creative ideas, and engages with one's audience.

Prior to coming to Mount Union, I worked in a research environment where entrepreneurial skills are needed, but not taught in an organized way. After being exposed to the entrepreneurial mindset and the usefulness of the skills in accomplishing projects and developing new ideas, I appreciate the importance and impact they have for our graduates, the careers they engage in, and the companies that employ them. It has been exciting to be part of a team that sees the benefits that engineering and business can afford each other!

Plans are underway for the renovation and expansion of the Engineering and Business Building (EBB) and Tolerton and Hood Hall to accommodate growth within engineering and business-related fields. The project includes the addition of 7,000 square feet of space at the north end of EBB (as pictured in this rendering.)

BUILDING FOR THE

IN HIGHER EDUCATION, KEEPING UP WITH THE COMPETITION IS THE SAME AS BEING BEHIND THE COMPETITION. IN ORDER TO BE A STEP AHEAD, THE UNIVERSITY OF MOUNT UNION'S CURRENT STRATEGIC PLAN, COMPASS 2021, FOCUSES ON A NUMBER OF INITIATIVES, ONE OF WHICH IS TO CULTIVATE AN INNOVATIVE AND EXPANDING ACADEMIC ENVIRONMENT. ONE WAY THIS IS BEING ADDRESSED IS THROUGH RENOVATIONS TO THE ENGINEERING AND BUSINESS BUILDING (EBB), A FACILITY THAT TRULY ILLUSTRATES MOUNT UNION'S COMMITMENT TO THE LIBERAL ARTS, REAL-WORD EXPERIENCE, AND PREPARATION FOR SUCCESS.

FUTURE

The University's programs in business and engineering are growing, and they will soon outgrow the EBB within which they are housed.

Today, 250 of Mount Union's roughly 2,000 undergraduate students are majoring in programs housed within the Department of Economics, Accounting, and Business Administration, and 200 more are pursuing minors in business, accounting, or economics.

The engineering program has grown rapidly in the past seven years as well, now serving 170 students in its ABET-accredited programs in civil engineering and mechanical engineering. In addition, the University has launched three new engineering majors – electrical engineering, computer engineering, and biomedical engineering – which are slated to begin in the fall of 2018 (see page 16 for more.).

DEPARTMENTAL COLLABORATION

It is not a coincidence that the Department of Economics, Accounting, and Business Administration and the Department of Engineering are in the same building.

One of the four pillars of an exceptional engineering education at Mount Union is integrating engineering knowledge with essential business skills. As part of the engineering curriculum, third-year students in the department partner with business students to design prototypes for products that solve a problem. In the spring of 2017, such prototypes were presented to members of the community and industry leaders at the first ever Engineering Design Expo. This showcase of interdepartmental, hands-on work allows new research ideas to come to life and offers real-world opportunities before students enter the post-graduate workforce.

PLAN FOR THE FUTURE

To properly accommodate and maintain adjacency and synergies between its programs in business and engineering, Mount Union has developed a two-fold plan for growth.

In Tolerton and Hood Hall (T-H), which connects to the EBB, engineering classrooms, labs, and offices will be created through a significant renovation of space that will be vacated by moving the Department of Sociology and Criminal Justice and Department of Mathematics to other quarters on campus. The engineering program will, thus, operate in both the EBB and T-H.

“During the 2010-2011 Academic Year, Mount Union began renovation of its former sciences facility, now known as the EBB, converting it for use by the University’s Department of Economics, Accounting, and Business Administration and the then-forming Department of Engineering,” said Greg King ’89, vice president for university advancement. “The plan has worked well, as both departments have experienced growth and we find ourselves in the enviable position of needing additional space to help support their programs.”

A dramatic addition to the EBB of roughly 7,000 square feet, visible from the Quad area at the heart of the campus (see rendering on previous page), will provide needed space for a large business classroom suite. It also will provide auxiliary space that may be used, as needed in the future, for additional business faculty offices, group study areas, or maker space as the overlap of business and engineering is fostered. In addition, several business program classrooms and seminar rooms in the EBB will be renovated and updated with appropriate equipment and software.

As the University takes significant steps to increase the quality and impact of its business and engineering programs, this renovation and addition will provide students with the modern facilities needed to enhance their learning.

EBB/T-H RENOVATIONS

TECHNOLOGY-ENRICHED CLASSROOM SUITE IN EBB ADDITION

- Flexible “maker space”
- Flexible classroom space for instruction and group projects
- Digital hub for online business instruction

RENOVATIONS IN EBB AND T-H

- Engineering labs
- Seminar rooms
- Faculty offices
- Auxiliary and support spaces

"THE PLAN HAS WORKED WELL, AS BOTH DEPARTMENTS HAVE EXPERIENCED GROWTH AND WE FIND OURSELVES IN THE ENVIABLE POSITION OF NEEDING ADDITIONAL SPACE TO HELP SUPPORT THEIR PROGRAMS."

- Greg King '89

Vice President for University Advancement

Mount Union's Department of Engineering Introduces Three New Programs

On October 4, 1846, 23-year-old Orville Nelson Hartshorn had a vision for an institution where “science would parallel the humanities.” More than 171 years later, STEM-related programs at the University of Mount Union continue to grow while the institution remains deeply rooted in the liberal arts tradition.

Mount Union's commitment to STEM growth continued in May of 2009 when the University announced the addition of programs in civil and mechanical engineering. After eight years, four classes of engineering graduates, and accreditation from the Engineering Accreditation Commission of ABET, Mount Union is excited to announce the addition of three new programs beginning in the fall of 2018: biomedical engineering, computer engineering, and electrical engineering.

“One of the major distinguishing features of the engineering programs at Mount Union is the leveraging of the liberal arts and business with engineering to graduate innovative leaders,” said Dr. Osama Jadaan, professor and chair of the Department of Engineering. “We take pride in the fact that our engineering graduates are not just technologically prepared for their professional careers but are also effective communicators. The liberal arts, ranging from the social sciences to the fine arts, provide our students with the critical thinking and communication skills necessary to lead and innovate in the real world.”

Four Pillars of Exceptional Engineering Education:

1. Providing extensive hands-on, real-world engineering
2. Requiring international engineering field experience
3. Integrating engineering knowledge with essential business skills
4. Building effective leaders and communicators

Biomedical Engineering

Biomedical engineering is one of the fastest growing engineering fields in the market today. The program at Mount Union will integrate engineering principles and design concepts with medical and biological sciences to advance healthcare treatment. One of the unique partnerships students in this major will have at their disposal involves collaboration with faculty and students from Mount Union's physical therapy and physician assistant studies programs.

"After my involvement in the strategic planning process, I can tell you that cultivating an innovative and collaborative academic environment is at the core of Mount Union's strategy to lead, collaborate, and innovate," said Dr. Matt Volansky, assistant professor of physical therapy. "The development of interdisciplinary academic partnerships is not about collaboration for collaboration's sake; it's about improving health, and creating support systems, and trying different models of practice. It is also about intentionally supporting current developing professionals and indirectly supporting patients, families, and communities."

Through hands-on preparation, students in the major will learn key skills for post-graduate success in areas including: biomechanics, bioinstrumentation, biomaterials, rehabilitation engineering, and systems physiology.

Computer Engineering

The world as we know it would be drastically different without the pioneering work of computer engineers. Though Mount Union has had a successful computer science program for years, the implementation of a computer engineering major gives students the chance to dive deeper into hardware, software, and coding from many different angles.

Students will gain insight into networks and mobile computing; signal, image, and speech processing; and system architecture, among many other skills through collaboration with the Department of Computer Science.

“Mount Union’s computer engineering major is designed to foster an innovative mindset and develop crucial knowledge to successfully impact this rewarding and high-paying field,” said Jadaan.

“The Department of Computer Science is excited to have new majors in the Department of Engineering starting up next year,” said Blase Cindric, associate professor and chair of the Department of Computer Science. “The computer engineering students will take several computer science courses for their major. We are excited to welcome these new students to our courses and look forward to working with them in exploring interesting and innovative computing ideas.”

Electrical Engineering

Electrical engineering is one of the most in-demand fields, and is an imperative part of today's ever-changing and innovative technological society. Without the work of those in the electrical engineering field, there would be no leftovers from the refrigerator, two-dozen television shows waiting for consumption on our DVRs, or important technological advances in healthcare such as the pacemaker or CT scanner.

"The electrical engineering degree is designed to offer students the crucial and influential knowledge to impact this in-demand field," Jadaan said. "As with computer and biomedical engineering, we are in the process of assembling an outstanding group of faculty with expertise in the many fields that make up electrical engineering such as power, controls, telecommunications, and microelectronics."

Electrical engineering students at Mount Union will apply valuable classroom foundations through practical experiments and off-campus internships. Some of the emphases they can pursue include: electronics and communications, controls, or power and energy engineering.

The four pillars of exceptional engineering education (see page 16) not only advance the program-specific knowledge base of students in the department, they also provide the groundwork for strong written and oral communication skills, which are often overlooked by larger institutions.

Mount Union's Department of Engineering, much like its students, is constantly innovating to become an industry leader while never losing sight of the liberal arts foundation that helped it grow into the success it is today.

"We take pride that our engineering graduates are not just technologically prepared for their professional careers but are also effective communicators. The liberal arts, ranging from the social sciences to the fine arts, provides our students with the critical thinking and communication skills necessary to lead and innovate in the real world."

Civil and Mechanical Engineering Build on Success

Since its first group of students stepped onto campus in 2010, the Department of Engineering's two initial programs in civil engineering and mechanical engineering have grown into two of the most sought-after programs at the University of Mount Union.

Much of that intrigue amongst prospective students comes from the current demand for engineers in a number of industries. Combined with Mount Union's liberal arts foundations and the four pillars of exceptional engineering education, the department gives students a number of hands-on opportunities outside of the classroom to gain the skills employers desire.

Each year since 2013, the department has taken students on an international engineering experience in Belize to design and build real-world projects to be used in the country.

The University of Mount Union is excited to offer a unique camp for high school students interested in the field of engineering beginning in summer of 2018.

The Experience Engineering Summer Program (EESP) offers attendees the chance to get hands-on experience in biomedical, civil, computer, electrical, environmental, and mechanical engineering. The faculty will also teach students effective communication and presentation skills as well as general entrepreneurship principles in engineering.

Students that complete the camp's curriculum also earn two college credits, replacing those earned through Mount Union's Introduction to the Engineering Profession course.

EESP accepts high school sophomores, juniors, seniors, and recent graduates preparing to enroll as college freshmen. Students in those groups who have successfully completed Algebra I are eligible to attend the camp.

"This summer program is an exciting opportunity for students wanting to learn about the many disciplines of engi-

Back in Alliance, students also have the chance to get involved with several organizations on and off campus to further their engineering education and collaborate with peers. Some of those include the VX Robotics team, Society of Automotive Engineering Baja Car team, and the Society for Women Engineers, in addition to volunteering with Habitat for Humanity by assisting in building homes.

This past spring, the department introduced the first Engineering Design Expo on campus. The expo gave students the opportunity to display projects to members of the community, some of whom were local industry leaders in engineering. Design projects that were presented at the expo included a robotic football team, an electric powered paraglider, an adaptable prosthetic leg, a filterless vacuum, a hops harvester, a Baja vehicle, and a GeoWall, among others.

Though the department is more than doubling in majors offered, continued focus and development will not be lost on these two incredibly successful programs that are now a staple of Mount Union's academic offerings.

neering in a fun and hands-on way from engineering faculty at Mount Union,” said Dr. Osama Jaddan, professor and chair of the Department of Engineering at Mount Union. “The unique thing about this summer program is that it also integrates business and effective communication within the six engineering modules the students will work on. The students will also have the opportunity to meet with coaches and faculty members in extracurricular areas of interest.”

Students attending EESP have the option to stay on campus throughout the program, or commute each day to campus. The cost for residential students is $795, which includes the program fee, housing, and meals, while commuter student pricing is $570. Both options include all instructional materials, social and team-building activities, and an EESP t-shirt. Those wishing to earn college credit will have an optional tuition charge of $100.

Registration has begun and forms can be found at moun-tunion.edu/eesp-registration. Students will be admitted on a first-come, first-served basis, and EESP is limited to 25 students.

FROM HIGH SCHOOL TO HONDA

{BY ABBEY SCHLANZ '18}

When many students arrive at college, they are uncertain about the field of study they want to pursue. This was not the case for Cameron Senhauser '18 of Powell, Ohio. A self-professed "gearhead," Senhauser has been interested in working on cars since high school, and this interest led him to pursue a degree in mechanical engineering.

"My dream has always been to work for a large automotive company, and that's what really made me pursue mechanical engineering," he said. "I think being a chief engineer in charge of the design of a car or an engine would be pretty cool."

Senhauser originally came to Mount Union because of its men's lacrosse team, but as he learned more about the University, the Department of Engineering impressed him. He became interested in the extracurricular activities it offered, such as the Engineering Club and the Society of Automotive Engineers' Baja racing team of which he is now president. Senhauser encourages other engineering students to get involved with these organizations as well.

"Get involved. When you're in an internship interview, the experience gives you a lot of firepower," he said. "It shows what you did outside of class instead of just your grades. You can say 'Well I worked on the Baja car, and I designed the suspension,' and then you can talk for hours about that."

The experiences Senhauser has had at Mount helped him land an internship with Honda last year. Senhauser attributes his education at Mount Union to helping him be successful in his internship.

"A lot of the communication projects, like presentations, made me more comfortable as a speaker, and I think that helped me out throughout the internship," Senhauser said. "Also, because Honda is a Japanese company, the Japanese culture class I took gave me other interesting topics to talk about in the interview."

Of course, Senhauser's engineering classes prepared him the most for the technical work. His advanced engineering courses influenced his decisions when working on designs for cars, making him feel more confident. Senhauser also attributes this success to his professors, who are always willing to help with questions he has outside of the classroom.

"Engineering hasn't been easy, but it's definitely rewarding."

Dr. Chad Korach, assistant professor of mechanical engineering, is Senhauser's favorite professor. Korach says the best part of his job is interacting with the students, and his proudest moment is when students graduate and land their first jobs as engineers. With Senhauser, Korach can be extra proud because, thanks to the Honda internship, Senhauser has already landed his first job even though graduation is still months away.

After Commencement, Senhauser will be heading to Honda's Research and Development location in Raymond, Ohio, just outside of Marysville. Although he is looking forward to this opportunity, Senhauser is also looking forward to seeing how the Department of Engineering will continue to grow.

"I think it's good that the department is adding electrical, computer, and biomedical engineering as majors," he said. "Those are areas where professions are growing, and I think that's great for Mount Union. We're taking a step toward having an even better engineering program."

Still, for Senhauser, Commencement can't come soon enough. Once he trades in his cap and gown for a Honda polo shirt, he will be one step closer to his dream of being a chief automotive designer.

"I'm excited," he said. "I'm ready to have a job, start making money, and start 'adulting.' Engineering hasn't been easy, but it's definitely rewarding."

The University of Florida

B.S., Civil Engineering, University of Mount Union

I'm a graduate student at the University of Florida. My Ph.D. studies are in the environmental engineering program, with research in engineering education. Currently, my research involves assessing epistemologies of students in relation to their problem-solving skills. Future research will entail social justice issues within engineering. I'm also a teaching assistant for an undergraduate course within environmental engineering.

More Than a Number

I chose Mount Union for many reasons. When looking for a university, I wanted somewhere small that could give me personalized attention within my education. I didn't want to be just another number. My aunt is an alumna of Mount Union, so she suggested I take a tour. Upon visiting the gorgeous campus, I fell in love and knew that I had found my next home.

Internship Preparation

I worked at the Ohio Department of Transportation (ODOT) while at Mount Union. This position was posted by a peer who worked there and, with references from my advisors, I applied. I used the Center for Student Success to tailor my résumé and interview tactics, which helped me tremendously. ODOT said I was one of the most prepared interviewees they had seen, and this was all due to Mount Union's preparation.

Preparing for Life After College

Mount Union prepared me in numerous ways, including the development of communication skills, writing skills, and organizational skills, in addition to an appreciation for loving and helping others, work-life balance, and preparing for an interview. Mount Union has helped me grow and become strong in all the ways needed to be a successful individual.

Following Your Dreams

After completing my bachelor's degree, I held a job at the ODOT. I gave this up to follow my dreams of being a professor and am in pursuit of my Ph.D. at the University of Florida.

A Worthwhile Investment

I don't think I would be in the position I am in today, with the blessings I have been given, if it weren't for Mount Union. The University really set the backbone for my career and gave me a bright future.

FirstEnergy

B.S., Civil Engineering, University of Mount Union

I oversee a $300 million portfolio for FirstEnergy transmission projects in Pennsylvania. I assist with planning projects for the current year and the future five years. I determine if a project can be done based on the priority compared to other projects, if a construction outage is possible, and the cost of the project.

Choosing Mount Union

I chose Mount Union because I was looking for a small school but also one that had an engineering program. The atmosphere and culture of Mount Union are wonderful. You are not just another number there, your professors know you by name.

Time Management

I played women's basketball for four years while at Mount Union and was also a part of the Engineering Club. Trying to balance my engineering classes and workload while playing a college sport helped me with time management. In my career, I excel at prioritizing my work and managing my time. At Mount Union, I learned the importance of prioritization. While playing a sport and being a full-time engineering student, I didn't have much time during the week to waste. I had to prioritize my school work to make sure I could get everything done.

Liberal Arts Benefits

Mount Union's liberal arts foundation made me a well-rounded student and engineer. Classes such as public speaking helped me succeed in my current job for which I frequently present in front of executives.

A Great Investment

A Mount Union education was a great investment because I have a good job at a great company and my education helped me get to where I'm at today. In my current position, I present a lot in front of upper level management. It is always good to get your name out there to the leaders of the company.

I work with automotive OEMs to design and maintain drive shafts for current and future production vehicles. They provide details about vehicles, and I take those details to determine the design of driveshaft needed for each application. I follow each program from award of business through product implementation to end of production.

Personal Attention

I chose Mount Union because I was able to play sports along with completing an engineering degree. I feel Mount Union is different than other universities because of its faculty. They take the time to get to know each student and show genuine interest in the education of all of the students. The institution also helped immensely with my financial needs.

Internship Perspectives

I held multiple internships during my time at Mount Union. I was able to get two of these positions through connections in my hometown. The others were at MAC Trailer, obtained through the help of faculty.

Extracurricular Involvement

I was involved with the Mount Union softball team, Baja Team, and Engineering Club. I also served as vice president of the Ultimate Frisbee Club, secretary of Alpha Mu Gamma Foreign Language Honorary, and a mathematics tutor. My extracurricular activities helped shape me into the person that I am. Through many of my extracurriculars, I learned that I enjoy helping people, and that is a great asset to have in any field.

Keeping in Touch

I do still keep in touch with my friends from Mount Union. We get together every now and then but also meet up at every Homecoming football game. I also follow Mount Union on multiple social media platforms.

Preparation Through Education

Mount Union has given me the great skill of time management. Between classes and sports, I always needed to be on top of homework and studying, or I would get behind. Without Mount Union, I would not be where I am at today. The education I gained has helped me earn my current position and will help me move up in my company in the future.

B.S., Civil Engineering, University of Mount Union

I am a construction superintendent for a general contractor, DDC. I travel nationally to complete a variety of different projects. I manage all of our subcontractors and their work onsite to ensure that a quality product is delivered to our clients within our deadlines.

A Solid Foundation

I chose Mount Union because of the then-new engineering programs and the opportunity to play on the baseball team. During my time at Mount Union, I was a pitcher on the baseball team, member of the Engineering Club, and a member of Green Raiders. Being a member of the baseball team taught me a lot of skills in leadership, communication, and time management.

Career Preparation

The most important way that my education at Mount Union prepared me for my career was giving me skills in time management, organization, and critical thinking. My job is very fast-paced and requires me to be organized and efficiently schedule work so that my projects are completed prior to our clients' deadlines. I am constantly presented with issues at work, and the technical background and critical thinking that I learned at Mount Union put me in a good position by being able to handle any issues encountered. I utilize a lot of the software that was introduced during my time in college on a regular basis such as AutoCAD and Microsoft Project.

Hands-On Experience

I had three internships during my time at Mount Union. The first was for the Trumbull County Engineer's Office, mainly doing inventory of traffic controls as well as assisting the office engineers with the performance of daily tasks such as plan review and inspections of projects. The second was as a construction intern with the Ohio Department of Transportation, where I helped to supervise the construction of projects including bridge construction, asphalt paving, and the installation of new culverts throughout our region. My third internship was with CESO at its office in Canton, where I worked on drafting in AutoCAD Civil3D to assist the drafters and engineers in the office.

Staying Connected to Mount Union

I still keep in touch with my college friends, primarily my friends from the baseball team. We go on vacations together, meet up to golf, or just visit each other. Also, I am still in contact with Dr. Hans Tritico in the Department of Engineering, with whom I discuss my career as well as the growth of the program.

ASSOCIATION MESSAGE

What a wonderful start to another academic year here on campus. We welcomed another exceptional class of new students, continue athletic success, and have experienced unseasonably warm weather that has allowed us to enjoy the beautiful campus. Hopefully many of you were able to attend the Alumni Brunch, football game, or one of the many other events held during Alumni Weekend and Homecoming in September.

I continue to be amazed at the dedication campus leadership has toward the University, but in particular, to the students themselves. At the forefront of this dedication is the consistency with which the University has delivered upon its mission. Consistency has been a reliable quality of the University for many decades as is shown in the caliber of our students, educational excellence, impeccably maintained buildings and grounds, athletic teams, and so many other areas. The consistency of our leadership and its actions have placed us in a position of strength, success, and growth for many generations.

However, this position of strength could not have been accomplished without the generous support of our alumni. Overcoming these current and future challenges cannot be done, and will not be done, without the continued support of our alumni. As I near the completion of my term as president of your Alumni Association, I ask for your time, effort, commitment, and generosity to ensure that this consistency and standard of excellence continues to be part of the Mount Union tradition. There has never been a better time to give back! Thank you for all that you do for Mount Union. I hope to see you soon.

Honor Roll of Investors 2016-2017

Dear Alumni and Friends,

On behalf of the students, faculty, and staff of the University of Mount Union, I am honored to recognize more than 3,300 alumni, parents, and friends whose philanthropy moved the University forward in the 2016-2017 Fiscal Year. These investors have made our academic programs stronger and provided support for scholarships, technology upgrades, facility enhancements, and other critical needs.

Our journey last year was guided by Compass 2021, Mount Union's strategic plan. In an effort to ensure the successful implementation of the strategic initiatives, the Office of Advancement focused on fundraising priorities identified in the plan. As you know, endowed scholarships are vital to the future of the University because they help keep a Mount Union education within reach of hardworking students and their families. Funding these initiatives not only provides scholarship support and financial aid, but also creates an innovative academic environment promoting essential student development and successful career preparation.

Mount Union has a rich history of inspiring minds and transforming lives. These themes continue to provide a clear purpose to our fundraising efforts. In the coming year, we must challenge ourselves to chart an ambitious course forward – one that builds upon our history and directs our efforts and investment toward the areas where we can maximize student impact.

Please accept my sincere gratitude for your continued dedication to Mount Union and for partnering with us to fulfill the University's mission of preparing students for fulfilling lives, meaningful work, and responsible citizenship.

With deepest thanks and appreciation,

Gregory L. King
Vice President for University Advancement

Endowed Funds

Endowments are permanent funds that provide support for academic pursuits and programs at the University of Mount Union. Private gifts to the University create these endowments. Donors determine the purpose for which endowment income may be spent. Some common purposes include the following.

- Chairs, professorships, and other faculty and staff positions
- Scholarships and prizes
- Support for an academic program of the University, department, building, or area
- Academic research
- Purchase of journals, books, art, technology, or new equipment

Since its inception in 1846, thousands of donors have contributed to endowment funds established for hundreds of purposes at Mount Union. Generous support for higher education, coupled with conservative and effective investment strategies, has resulted in an endowment currently valued at $139 million (as of June 30, 2017).

The Mount Union Fund

Each year, generous alumni, friends, parents, and organizations support campus programs and initiatives through gifts to The Mount Union Fund. These gifts support the current operations of the University by providing needed and flexible funds used to assist student aid, enhance campus technology, support campus improvement projects, and address emerging opportunities. Simply put, the University would not be in the position it is in today without a strong and growing tradition of annual support. Those who support The Mount Union Fund do more than just share their resources or receive a tax benefit, they show their belief in the University, its faculty and students, its mission, and its direction. Mount Union is indeed grateful for the 2,500 donors to The Mount Union Fund.

1846 Society

The 1846 Society is the pinnacle of annual giving recognition. Membership in the 1846 Society is achieved by donors who contribute $1,250 or more to the Mount Union Fund during the fiscal year (July 1-June 30). The following donors, through their annual support, make a collective statement that their belief in the University of Mount Union is strong and that the University is indeed a priority in their philanthropic lives. The University salutes the following individuals who made a significant difference during 2016-2017.

Volunteers

The spirit of giving at Mount Union does not end with financial support. Many volunteer their time and talents through several avenues of engagement. Alumni can choose to engage more fully in the life and success of the University by participating on the Alumni Association Executive Board. In addition, some alumni and friends choose to give their time as members of the Board of Trustees, Computer Science Alumni Advisory Board, Engineering Advisory Council, Executives and Professionals on Campus, Physical Therapy Advisory Board, Physician Assistant Advisory Council, The Ralph and Mary Regula Center for Public Service and Civic Engagement Advisory Council, and the Sport Business Advisory Council.

Alumni Association Executive Board

The purpose of the Alumni Association Executive Board is to be actively engaged in activities that promote and provide leadership in support of the University.

Dr. Leonard and Mrs. Gretchen Epp

Dedicated and compassionate educators, Dr. Leonard and Mrs. Gretchen Epp continue to make an indelible impact on the lives of students.

In keeping with their lifelong interests, the Epps generously established the Dr. Leonard and Gretchen Epp Biology Award. The award is given during Honors Convocation to a rising senior biology major who has shown exceptional motivation and made considerable contributions to the department.

“The best thing about my career at Mount Union was the time I spent with my students,” said Dr. Epp. “Our award will be given to one student each year, but it’s really for all of them.”

Dr. Epp served as a highly respected member of the Mount Union faculty from 1970-2011. He is the recipient of the Great Teacher Award and the McKinley Fellow Award, which honors a select group of individuals who have had a significant impact on Mount Union.

Dr. and Mrs. Epp’s long financial support of Mount Union and thoughtful planned gift has earned them membership in Mount Union’s Forever Mount Society and Heritage Society. With this investment, the Epps have built a lasting legacy at Mount Union that will encourage and inspire future generations of science students.

Tara Piercy '18 accepted the first Dr. Leonard and Gretchen Epp Biology Award in April 2017.

There are so many ways you, too, can positively impact Mount Union and its students. For more information, please contact the Office of University Advancement at (800) 992-6682, ext. 2286 or advancement@mountunion.edu

“Because of you, my future is bright!
My favorite part of Mount Union has been meeting people from all walks of life, learning new things, and seeing myself grow both academically and socially. And I know it is only possible because of generous alumni and friends like you.”
