ANOTHER SCHOOL YEAR is coming to a close and FINALLY summer is here! The end of this school year has caught me a bit off guard because of the realization that my oldest will be entering his last year of school next year – talk about a reality check.

I think back on the days when all of my boys were little and felt like we would be in that “snips snails and puppy dog tails season” forever. I can remember as a young mom (who felt at her wits end at times) being told that I would miss these days. At the time, I didn’t believe it, but now... yes, I miss my little boys.

This summer there is lots to do in our community and I hope you’ll make an effort to enjoy and support some of the great events and activities we have available. We’ve included a variety of things in this year’s Guide to Summer and feel sure you’ll find something that piques your interest!

The summer months always fly by. I encourage you to enjoy this time of year — that for some reason just seems “easier”. If the opportunity presents, sleep late, take that trip, sit outside and listen to the crickets and watch the lightening bugs... remember, it’s a season and it doesn’t last forever.

Happy Summer!

Webb Heating & Air Conditioning Celebrates 40th Anniversary

SINCE 1978, Webb Heating & Air Conditioning has been a family owned and operated local business. With a loyal customer base, Webb has grown significantly over the decades, now employing over 60 people out of two locations. We have expanded with our new Energy Works department, specializing in energy efficiency upgrades to ensure our customers have options for clean air, total comfort, and long-term utility savings. Additionally, Webb recently implemented a Training Academy as a commitment to our customers to provide the best trained technicians and as an opportunity for young tradesmen to gain invaluable skills for a successful career in the HVAC industry. We are celebrating our 40th anniversary in 2018, and invite you to join in the celebration! With strong roots in the community, our company aspires to continue building relationships with our customers and neighbors in the Triad.

Customer service exceeding expectations is our specialty. As a local business, we pride ourselves in getting to know our customers. Our receptionists and service dispatchers work with homeowners to schedule appointments that fit their needs, always working to provide our customers with service excellence.

Quality you can trust is the goal that we strive to make a reality for every customer we interact with. Whether our service technicians are working on a malfunctioning air conditioning system in your home, or our installation crews are replacing your old HVAC system, we focus on the quality of our work from start to finish. Sometimes quality work takes a little extra time, and a lot of extra skill, but we find that it pays off to do the job right the first time! Because of this, we guarantee customer satisfaction with all of our work.

Company culture plays a large role in how Webb runs on a day to day basis. Webb was founded on the principles of honesty, integrity, and dependability – and we carry out those ideals in how we treat each of our employees. Our goal is to treat every employee with the respect they deserve, which is why Webb is committed to creating opportunities for growth for each employee. Our Training Academy is just one of the resources we offer to our employees, where they develop trade skills and improve their customer service skills, all so that we can offer the best services possible to our loyal customers.

Community involvement is a priority at Webb Heating & Air Conditioning. We often volunteer our time, donate materials, or sponsor events for many worthy causes in the Triad. Habitat for Humanity has played a major role in our community involvement, as we have completed over 100 homes with the organization within just the last ten years alone. Our favorite project each year is the Habitat for Humanity of Greensboro's "Raising Roofs Blitz," where we help build five houses in five days for local families! We believe that we wouldn't be here without the support of our community, so we try to give back as often as possible.

Summer Feeding Program Set to Begin June 18

IN NORTH CAROLINA, 1,565,910 people are struggling with hunger and of them, 479,220 are children.

To put it in better perspective, that's 1 in 7 people and 1 in 5 children that struggle with hunger in the state of North Carolina. The Davie County Child Nutrition Department wants to change those statistics through its Summer Feeding Program!

In the summer of 2017, the Davie County Child Nutrition Department served 7,603 breakfast meals and 26,189 lunch meals over the course of 36 days during the months of June, July and August to children throughout the county. This summer, we are hoping that we can eclipse those numbers and reach more children in need. The Summer Feeding Program will begin on June 18 and conclude on August 10 and is FREE to all children ages 1-18. Central feeding sites include Mocksville Elementary, Cooleemee Elementary, Cornatzer Elementary and William R. Davie Elementary. Many mobile sites will also be available throughout the county. For a full list of feeding sites, please visit the Child Nutrition webpage at Davie.k12.nc.us or call 336-751-5921.

The Importance of Good Nutrition Year Round

Good nutrition is essential for learning in school. Continuing healthy eating habits is also important during the long hot summer months.

Eating nutritious foods helps ensure students retain their hard learned knowledge... and to help them to keep right on learning throughout the summer. For many of these children, summer vacation can bring the temptation of eating empty calorie snacks and foods that are high in sugar, fats and sodium. And for many others, summer exposes students to an increased risk of hunger and developmental decline. Make seasonal fruits and vegetables a high priority for your snacks, meals and anytime.

Summertime is a time to play hard...but it is also a time to remember to eat right. Make sure good nutrition remains a priority all summer long, and students will return to school in the Fall healthy, sharp and ready to learn.

What's Your Purpose?

IF YOU'RE A BUSINESS OWNER, why are you in business? What's your business's purpose? Some might answer "making money" or "selling a product," or "offering a particular service to a group of people." Why these all may be true, these aren't purposes — these should be the result of having one.

Developing and having a purpose underlying your brand and your marketing is what we're talking about. The real purpose of your business should be WHY you make the products you make, or offer the services you offer, not what or how. And that core purpose needs to stay the same, even though your strategy and tactics may change as the business environment does.

"Having a 'Brand Promise' isn't a new idea, but it's more important today than ever as more and more businesses compete in the same space," says Chris Burcaw, the chief marketing strategist at LinTaylor Marketing Group in Winston-Salem. "Just having a product or service point-of-difference isn't always enough to get people's attention, so you have to dig deeper and define your purpose."

Having a Brand Purpose Does a Number of Important and Helpful Things

It helps you find a "why" underneath what you do and how you do it. "Okay, your company makes a good product. But why that product? Why should anyone buy from you? It's helpful to ask 'why?' as many times as necessary to get to the basic, fundamental ideal and purpose," Chris says.

A purpose gives a brand "legs" to move in any number of directions. "More often than not, once we help a company determine its 'purpose,' we have a hard time NOT coming up with ideas to promote it."

A purpose unites all the people behind the brand. A purpose creates passion for the work at your business, and that passion then spills out into the market in any number of ways. "If you've ever heard someone say about their job that "it pays the bills," chances are the brand's purpose of that company isn't being shared well with its employees, and probably not the public either.

A purpose engages. "Having a purpose helps brands connect more easily with consumers. People will likely engage with a brand for its purpose before they will about the product. We see it happen all the time. And if they engage with a brand in a positive way, you begin to develop a sound foundation for trial and loyalty. Brands with a purpose are easy to spot. Anyone can sell real estate, or fix your car, or invest your money, or bake you a cake, but brands that have a purpose tend to do better, and have staying power."

Godbey Creek Canine Rescue

WHAT IF YOUR FAMILY

decided it was time to add a dog to the household? And, what if, before you took that dog home, you were sure it was the right dog for your family and your home?

That's what the dedicated team at Godbey Creek Canine Rescue (GCCR) work toward every day, and with a less than two percent return rate, it's obvious their techniques are working.

Jessica Vaughn, operations director of the Godbey Road facility, stated "Our mission statement is to protect, provide, promote, and place each canine companion that enters our rescue program."

The Godbey Creek "place" philosophy is to match the right pet with the right owner in the right environment; this has been a key component of their success.

Situated on 52 acres in beautiful, scenic Davie County, the donated property displays beautiful hardwoods, a pond with a fountain, a spotless adoption center, 17 kennels, 17 fresh air kennels and 12 doggie pastures for supervised playtime. Founded in 2013, the facility is licensed by the NC Department of Agriculture.

"The dogs at GCCR are pulled from shelters in surrounding counties and are mostly 'urgent rescue dogs' nearing their euthanasia date", Vaughn said. Volunteers transport them to GCCR, where they are vaccinated and placed in a special quarantine area. Each pet receives at a minimum basic medical which includes a microchip, flea and tick treatment, heartworm prevention, de-worming, vaccines, a heartworm test and are spayed or neutered.

Vaughn said the staff and volunteers work with each dog to make sure they are crate, house and leash-trained. "We could not succeed without our competent and dedicated staff and our wonderful volunteers who do so much to help these animals along their journey."

All the dogs have time outside each day, weather permitting, both in the fenced pastures and in fresh-air kennels. Volunteers also take them on walks, which provides not only exercise but also time for interaction

United Way of Davie County Day of Caring

LIVE
UNITED

FOR 16 YEARS, volunteers from across Davie County have come together for a common good, benefiting United Way of Davie County organizations. This year's United Way Day of Caring was held at the Farmington Community Center, and included more than 150 individuals who were eager to help out.

Feeding America reports that 11.7 percent of Davie County residents are food insecure. Of those, at least 35 percent are ineligible for Federal Food Assistance and must rely on local food pantries to meet their needs. That's where United Way stepped in, with the assistance of Outreach, Inc. The mission of The Outreach Program is to provide safe water, food, medical care, and education to individuals both domestically and abroad.

"Although the planning and organizing of this type of event is a massive undertaking, it was incredible to see all these volunteers having such a good time, spending their Saturday morning working for the good of others in our community," said United Way of Davie County's CEO Melinda Beauchamp.

Businesses and organizations from throughout Davie County packed 40,000 meals that were given to local organizations who feed hungry families in the community. For this project, volunteers packaged fortified apple cinnamon oatmeal to send to A Storehouse for Jesus, Our Daily Bread Food Pantry at Church of the Ascension, Just Hope, Inc., First Baptist Church of Cooleemee Food Pantry, and Backpack Buddies, a program that provides meals for Davie County students on weekends, holidays, and summer break.

"This was an amazing event. The Farmington Community Events Center was rocking — lots of music and energy. The volunteers worked hard, but they also enjoyed talking and laughing with one another," said Beauchamp. "A lot of them have already told us how much they enjoyed helping and can't wait to do it again next year."

Events like Day of Caring could not occur without generous community support, however.

"United Way is so grateful to CPP Global, Inc. for stepping up to be our Presenting Sponsor and to Genesis Bolt & Supply for being our Supporting Sponsor this year," said Beauchamp. "This wonderful day of service would not have been possible without the

Hospice & Palliative CareCenter Announces New Name to Better Reflect Distinctive Characteristics and Add Clarity

HOSPICE AND PALLIATIVE CARE CENTER has proudly been serving families in Davie and surrounding counties for nearly four decades. They recently announced that the organization is changing its name, in a deliberate and strategic step towards embracing a new identity. This new identity reflects the organization's distinctive characteristics and establishes a brand that patients and families can ask for by name.

“We are thrilled to announce our new name is Trellis Supportive Care. We believe this provides a unique and memorable name that accurately reflects the mission of our organization,” said Linda Darden, President & CEO.

“Trellis was chosen to represent the framework of support we provide our patients and families. We also like the sense of tranquility and peace of mind the name evokes, since a trellis is typically a garden structure that supports and guides plants and vines as they find their way,” added Darden.

“Selecting a provider when facing an advanced illness is not a common life event, and we understand that there are confusingly similar names which make selecting a hospice and palliative care provider challenging,” she added.

Ann Gauthreaux, Director of Public Relations said, “Our staff, like a trellis, become a framework of support for patients and families. Whether our team is providing palliative care, hospice care, advance care planning, grief counseling, around-the-clock care at our Kate B. Reynolds Hospice Home, or any other support we offer, our team is there for gentle guidance and support every step of the way.”

As the first hospice care provider in NC, HPCC is beloved and trusted by generations of families who have experienced their compassionate care first hand.

Founded in 1979, HPCC was the only hospice in North Carolina serving Forsyth and surrounding counties. Over time, as more families have recognized the physical and emotional benefits of their care, the organization has been invited into other counties to share their expertise. Today, HPCC serves 13 Northwest North Carolina counties.

Darden said that by adopting the Trellis Supportive Care name, the hope is that families throughout the region will again be able to immediately recognize the organization, its longstanding reputation for superb care, and its array of expert services.

“We’re all very excited about our new identity. It will support all of our service offerings — current and future — because it reflects our mission of caring,” said Darden.

TRELLIS

Supportive Care

Palliative | Hospice | Family Support

Trellis Supportive Care (formerly Hospice & Palliative CareCenter) was the first hospice in the state of North Carolina. Since 1979, hospice care has been the cornerstone of the organization's care; however, over the years, new and expanded programs have been introduced. These programs include grief counseling and advance care planning — both free of charge — for anyone in the community, as well as expanded palliative care services designed to meet the needs of patients earlier in the disease process. In 1998 the Kate B. Reynolds Hospice Home was opened, providing around-the-clock care to patients and families needing short-term inpatient care or respite care.

The Trellis Supportive Care staff is comprised of specially trained professionals who work as a team to help patients and their families live fully and comfortably, with hope — even during life's most challenging time.

Another Slice OF LiFE

Now Online!

NEARLY NINE YEARS AGO, DavieLiFE was introduced to the community. Our goal has been to make it easier for individuals to support local organizations and businesses which ultimately enables us all to support the local economy. We have been honored by the reception our publication has received and are excited to continue with our mission, for what we hope, is years to come.

As we approach the 10 year mark, the publication is ready to expand in a way that will allow us to reach even further ... but why?

If you're like most people, you read blogs pretty regularly. Sometimes you read them intentionally, other times you read them because you just happened to come across them online. Maybe you're searching for DIY tips, a new recipe or even doing some research on a product you're thinking of buying. Regardless, you've probably found the information you were looking for on a blog. But, what makes blogs different and why do we trust them so much?

HERE ARE JUST A FEW REASONS THAT BLOGS RESONATE WITH SO MANY PEOPLE TODAY.

Blogs give you answers. Whether you're looking to learn a new skill or educate yourself on how to approach your next venture, you can almost guarantee there is someone else out there who knows about what you're in search of. And guess what, they've blogged about it.

You want honest information. Of course a company or product is gonna give raving reviews of their product or service — come on, they're in the business to sell something. However, what if you're checking out a product or service and need to get the scoop without the fluff? Bloggers who share their experiences will tell the good and the bad and honestly, who doesn't want legit feedback before you load something to your shopping cart!

Everyone needs a little inspiration. Have you ever had one of those days where you are convinced that no one understands where you're at in life or how you feel? We all have and sometimes its just plain hard to pick ourselves up by the bootstraps and forge ahead. BUT, when someone writes about their own struggles, offers advice and gives encouragement that you just can't give yourself...it can be just the inspiration you need.

So, what can you expect from this blog, Another Slice of LiFE? You can expect a lot.

Molly Ridenhour will be a major contributor and will be sharing a variety of things that she has a passion for. From her the challenges and celebrations while living with a child with severe food allergies, to her love of fashion and style. Wendy Horne will also be along for the ride sharing her personal experiences with FINALLY figuring out how to eat clean and reduce sugar intake, as well as what it's been like to be an "accidental" entrepreneur.

The blog officially launched on June 5. As content is added, the blog will communicate updates through email and the private Facebook group. To join, visit AnotherSliceOfLiFE.com where you will be prompted to subscribe. Join the Facebook group by visiting www.Fb.com/Groups/AnotherSliceOfLiFE and click join.

We're excited about this new venture and invite you to join us. We can't guarantee it won't be a bit bumpy at times, but we're counting on it to be fun!

Davie County Farmers Markets are NOW OPEN!

THERE ARE DISTINCT health benefits to eating local, fresh produce, especially produce supplied at one of the farmers markets here in Davie County. Some of the benefits include having access to fresh produce that is harvested when it is ripe and its peak level of nutrition. Another health benefit of buying locally grown produce is it does not need to be waxed or treated with harmful pesticides. All in all, supporting local by shopping at our farmers markets allows you and your family to make healthier choices.

Shop Local, Save Money, Support the Local Economy

One of the reasons to shop at a farmers market is to support the local economy. Everyone benefits when dollars stay in the local community. The farmers are supported and can continue to grow their crops, and the money spent stays in the community rather than being shipped elsewhere. This helps the local economy thrive.

This year, our community will have access to two great farmers markets located in Bermuda Run and Mocksville.

THE MOCKSVILLE FARMERS MARKET is proud to provide a community market for consumers, farmers and artisans to buy and sell local fruits, vegetables and plants. Handmade crafts are also available for purchase the first Wednesday of every month. In addition to fresh produce, the market offers baked goods, jams, candles, soaps, creams, lotions, farm art, honey, meats, berries, eggs, flowers and more! To see a listing of who will be at the weekly market, follow them on Facebook at Mocksville Farmers Market. Join them this season as they promote "Eat Fresh, Healthy and Local"!

MOCKSVILLE FARMERS MARKET

with a person and time to work on leash training. "Socialization is another key component of the formula for placement. Also, there is a volunteer parent/child team associated with GCCR who has been taught the appropriate skills for dog interaction. Dogs who may not have been previously exposed to children are then socialized in a safe environment to gauge their potential for success in a home with children" said Vaughn.

Those interested in adopting can spend time with a dog in the facility's meet-and-greet area and take it on a walk outside. "Another key component of the matching process is to assess how the new pet interacts with the existing pet already in the home. Godbey Creeks asks prospective parents to bring their current pets and walk them on the grounds and play together in the pastures to determine if the interaction is a positive one."

Once the application is approved, the family may take the dog home that day assuming the pet's training is complete. If there are questions about the fit, Vaughn recommends they foster the dog for a two-week period to make sure it's the right fit for their family.

Pets waiting for their forever homes may be viewed at Godbey Creek's Facebook page, Petfinder page or at GodbeyCreekCanine.org. The cost to adopt is $250, which Vaughn said helps cover the cost of veterinary care. Godbey Rescue is always excited to bring in new volunteers and welcomes donations.

CLIENT & FAMILY ENTRANCE

This is the “front” of the facility, but technically the “back” of the building. This design is for client privacy. There are two entry doors at this level, one for therapy services and one for investigative services.

SEE OUR AD
ON PAGE 42

A Look Inside The Dragonfly House

A little background on why and how the facility was designed to meet the needs of children affected by abuse:

The Upper Level is rear facing and has two designated spaces: Investigative Services and Therapy Services. Each have their own entrances and lobbies in order to maintain client confidentiality and to prevent interference between the nature of the two services. Investigative services are typically in “crisis” and therapy services are in the process of healing. We do not want the two to intermingle. Investigative Services offer “Hope” through the child’s disclosure and seeing people come together as a team to help the child and the Therapy Services offer “Healing” through trauma informed mental health treatment for the child and family.

CHILDREN’S ADVOCACY CENTER

Our Lower Level entrance faces Valley Road and is used as the Staff and Community Entrance. All staff offices are downstairs and our community meeting room is downstairs so that we can host meetings or trainings that won’t interfere with any services offered to children or their privacy. We can also have visitors, volunteers or people dropping off donations and they won’t cross paths with our children.

STAFF & COMMUNITY LOWER LEVEL ENTRANCE RECEPTION AREA

This entrance faces Valley Road.

INVESTIGATIVE SERVICES HALLWAY

Our two Forensic Interview Rooms are on the right (green & yellow doors), the Observation Room is on the left (orange door) and the Medical Suite is straight back.

INVESTIGATIVE SERVICES LOBBY

Our Investigative Services (Forensic Interviews, Medical Exams, and Victim Advocacy and Support) have their own designated service area, entrance and lobby in the Upper Level. This space was designed with the comfort of children and families in mind.

MEDICAL EXAM AREA

Exam area in the Medical Suite, part of our Investigative Services.

THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S OFFICE

All Staff Offices are located in the Lower Level so as not to interfere with the children and families who are receiving confidential and sensitive services in the Upper Level.

COMMUNITY EDUCATION SPACE

Community Education space in the lower level that will allow us to host meetings, presentations and trainings that will not interfere with the services we provide daily to children.

ONE OF OUR TWO CHILD THERAPY ROOMS

Located in the Therapy Wing.

ONE OF OUR TWO FORENSIC INTERVIEW ROOMS

This room is designated for younger children. Our other Forensic Interview Room is designed for adolescents & teenagers and offers a more comfortable sitting area for talking.

THERAPY WING HALLWAY

Decorated with art from middle school children.

GROUP THERAPY ROOM

Creating a Cozy Dorm Environment for your College Student

Contributed by Jordan Howard

IT SEEMS IMPOSSIBLE to pack up 18 years of your life, load it into your mom's minivan and move it into a 15 x 15 square foot room that you'll be sharing with your supposedly new best friend. But here we go.

It's the night before move-in and you get out your list: bed linens: check, backpack: check, hangers: check, shampoo and conditioner: check. What else could you need? When leaving for college, no matter how hard you try, there's always going to be something you didn't think of or that you left at home.

So, here's a list of 10 items that every college student should have in their dorm room.

1. EXTRA LONG PHONE CHARGER

Especially if you loft your bed, the outlet can be a long way away. Charging your phone is an essential to waking up on time, remembering your course schedule and keeping in touch with all of your new friends!

2. LIGHTS, LIGHTS AND MORE LIGHTS

Trust me on this, those fluorescent dorm room lights can be harsh. Brighten up your room with hanging twinkling lights, with old string lights and with lamps. You can always turn the lights off, but if they aren't there to begin with, well, you'll just be sitting in the dark under one harsh fluorescent light.

3. BRITA FILTER AND ICE TRAYS

It's the middle of August. The dead of summer. You just walked 25 minutes across campus with a 10 pound backpack on your shoulders. If the heat of classes isn't bringing you down, the heat outside is. All you'll want is a cold, refreshing glass of ice water — good thing you have a Brita and ice trays.

4. PICTURES OF FRIENDS, FAMILY & PETS

Make your room more cozy and fight off home-sickness with these pictures of your favorite memories and favorite people. You'll fight to the death that your dog is the cutest dog that's ever graced the face of the earth and you'll need a picture to prove it. You can never bring too many photos.

5. STEP STOOL

This one may seem silly, but I cannot tell you how many times I've used my step stool in my college dorm. It's easier to step onto a step stool than it is to crawl on top of my desk to reach my top shelf where I keep my snacks. Was it intentionally strategic that I put my snacks out of reach? Maybe. Did I enable myself by purchasing a step stool to make it easier to reach my snacks? 100%.

6. STORAGE TRUNK

This will be where you store all of the extra things you accumulate through the year. Got an extra set of sheets? Put them in the trunk! Get a free foam finger at the basketball game? Put it in the trunk! Want to escape your roommate for awhile? Get in the trunk! No, just kidding. Don't do that, really, no don't. But yes, get a trunk!

7. LIGHT BLOCKING CURTAINS

You pulled 3 all-nighters this week, but Saturday is finally here. No alarms are set, you are prepared to sleep until noon. That is, until Mother Nature woke you up. The sun is shining directly into your window at 7 am. That's it. You're up and can't get back to sleep. Tired, grumpy, and in serious need of these light blocking curtains. Remember, you don't have to rise and shine if you can't see that the sun's up!

8. EAR PLUGS AND A SLEEP MASK

Noisy roommates will be the bane of your existence. You have an exam at 8 am the next day, but your roommate doesn't have class till noon and they "study better late at night". This means their desk lamp is on and you hear the incessant clicking of their keyboard all. night. long. Or maybe worse, your roommate snores, loudly. But! With ear plugs and a sleep mask you may never even know they're there!

9. PLANTS

Whether they're fake or live, plants and greenery will liven up your room and make it feel more homey. Not only is it important for your dorm room to be a place where you can be productive academically, but it also needs to be a place where you can relax. Besides, some people claim the oxygen plants produce can help you study! Maybe? Well, it's worth a try.

10. MINI-FRIDGE

You'll need somewhere to keep those late night snacks, your favorite drinks and of course those leftovers that you bring back after Thanksgiving break. This is an essential.

No matter what you pack or what you forget, your freshman dorm room will be one where you make memories and meet your lifelong friends. Have fun with it.

How Can Youth Really Make a Positive Difference in Davie County?

DID YOU KNOW there is a contest to enhance the expression of respect right here in Davie County? It's called the Davie Respect Initiative (DRI).

The DRI provides young people with a new platform to share their ideas on showing respect with their community. We can all think of young people who are creative and who make a real difference by showing respect to others.

Upon hearing about the DRI, Carolyn McManamy of the Davie County Chamber of Commerce said, "Respect is so important to every aspect of our lives, whether it is our personal relationships or business interactions. By shining a spotlight on respect with their creative contest, the DRI reminds us all that we are better people and a better community when we are respectful to one another."

Up to 10 winning submissions will receive a reward of $1,000 each for sharing their creative and practical ideas through the DRI contest. The contest is open to individuals who live in Davie County (DC) aged 12 - 21, or groups based in DC (such as scouts, church youth groups, sports teams, Big Brothers Big Sisters, 4-H, etc.) whose members are in that age range. Adult mentoring for applicants is welcomed.

A five-member volunteer panel of DC residents will select up to 20 finalists. These finalists will have the opportunity to present their ideas to the panel. The selection panel will be looking for thorough, thoughtful answers to four questions leading up to project ideas designed to bring out even more respect in DC. Answers to the four questions can be in any creative form. For example, an application, could consist of an essay, an original video, poetry, music, art or any combination of forms.

Many DC organizations and businesses have already endorsed this project. A few of them include the DC Chamber of Commerce, The Dragonfly House, Venezia Italian Restaurant, Trailers of the East Coast, Restaurant 101, Cedar Grove Baptist Church, Davie County Public Library, East Coast Wings, EnergyUnited and others. When business owners hear of it, they want to be part of this effort.

How can you, as a reader, contribute to the DRI? Reach out to us through the Contact Us page on our website DavieRespect.com and let us know about your interest. Share the message below with every youth and youth group you know in Davie County.

A MESSAGE TO ALL THOSE 12 - 21 YEARS OLD IN DAVIE COUNTY:

Let your voice be heard by submitting your ideas for a practical project, that demonstrates respect by applying to the Davie Respect Initiative via DavieRespect.com. Whether you're a club, group, or individual, your idea could be a winner!

The Scholarship Oscar Goes To...

THE STARS OF THE EVENING

were shining brightly April 19th as Davie Community Foundation awarded 78 scholarships to 65 students in the class of 2018. In addition to the scholarships awarded at the Oscars, 22 college students received awards; bringing the Foundation total to $186,115 in scholarships awarded this year!

"The class of 2018 is a very competitive group of students making the decisions by selections committees difficult as they reviewed 154 applications," said Debbie Koontz, program manager. "The Night at the Oscars was an exciting evening for everyone selected." Sponsors for the evening were: BB&T, Donald Bowles, CPA, Cathy and Grady McClamrock, Jr, Dr. and Mrs. Bill Steed, Hillsdale Dental, Dr. and Mrs. James Bumgarner and Darlene and Phil Fuller.

The Davie Community Foundation administers 71 endowed scholarships, including five new scholarships awarded for first-time this year. Now in its thirtieth year, the Foundation has awarded more than one million dollars in scholarships to residents of Davie County!

it's not smart to ignore your wisdom teeth

Wisdom teeth, or third molars, are the most common teeth to be impacted. When a tooth is unable to fully erupt into the mouth within its expected time frame, it is said to be "impacted." In general, impacted teeth are unable to break through the jawbones and/or gums because there is not enough room. Nine out of ten people will have, or have had, at least one impacted tooth in their life.

Wisdom teeth may not need to be extracted if they grow in completely and are functional, painless, cavity-free, disease-free, and in a hygienic environment with healthy gum tissue. However, most wisdom teeth are impacted, or become diseased, and need to be removed at some point in a person's life. Impacted wisdom teeth can sometimes damage or block neighboring teeth if left in place. Because wisdom teeth are in an area that's hard to clean, they can also invite bacteria that lead to gum disease, dental decay, or facial abscesses. In some cases, a cyst or tumor can form around an impacted tooth or wisdom tooth, which can lead to more serious problems as it hollows out the jaw and damages surrounding nerves, teeth and other parts of your mouth and face. In addition, wisdom teeth may also interfere with orthodontic treatment (braces) if left in place.

This patient did not have their lower right impacted wisdom tooth removed and they developed a very large, destructive cyst in their right lower jaw

The position of this partially impacted wisdom tooth led to difficulties with hygiene and deep decay in the patient's lower right wisdom tooth and lower right second molar

A special x-ray (Cone Beam CT) showing a lower impacted wisdom tooth that is blocking the eruption of a normal lower second molar

In general, it is ideal to have your wisdom teeth removed during the late teenage years or the early twenties. Removing them at this time is associated with the lowest risk, the least number of complications, and the fastest recovery. Waiting to remove wisdom teeth until you are older can result in more complications, postoperative discomfort, and more time away from work or school.

Wisdom teeth are commonly removed by an Oral and Maxillofacial Surgeon under IV sedation or general anesthesia ("going to sleep") in an office setting. Most people return to school or work after 2 to 3 days. Oral and Maxillofacial Surgeons are highly trained and skilled in the removal of wisdom teeth and the administration of safe, cost effective, and comfortable anesthesia care. For more information on wisdom tooth management, or to schedule a consultation, call Dr. Parker or Dr. Biggerstaff today.

It is important to discuss your wisdom teeth with your General Dentist and an Oral and Maxillofacial Surgeon

Davie County Wellness Center: A Community Resource for Everyone

MAKING WELLNESS A PART of everyday life means staying physically, mentally and spiritually healthy. At the Davie Wellness Center, we call this whole-person wellness and focus on fostering a community through participation in social activities, education and connection to community resources.

Every activity we offer provides an informal, enjoyable way to get to know others in the local community. Programs are built around the eight commonly recognized dimensions of wellness from SAMHA:

- Emotional wellness
- Environmental wellness
- Financial wellness
- Occupational wellness
- Physical wellness
- Social wellness
- Spiritual wellness

We like to think of the Center as the community's place to experience whole-person wellness.

We offer a wide variety of classes that focus on different dimensions of wellness, taught by our employees and community experts. You can join us to learn to paint, for example, in our popular Art 101 class, taught by local artist Sara Brewer on Tuesdays at 10 am.

"Here everyone is an artist," says Sara. "Expressive activities like painting, drawing or photography are relaxing and rewarding hobbies that can help lower stress levels and leave you feeling mentally clear and calm."

Our focus at Davie Country Wellness Center is on community inclusion and social interaction, and as such

- there's truly something here for everyone. We provide the opportunity for anyone to attend our classes, meetings, movies and more for free.

Join us to play bingo or watch a movie, exercising social wellness with fresh popcorn provided!

Or you can come to educational sessions where you'll learn about nutrition, how to recognize the signs of dementia, or even how to support a loved one entering hospice care. We also have support groups for people with autism, those who experience chronic pain and those facing substance abuse issues, including an Alcoholics Anonymous chapter.

Another resource community members find helpful is our Legal Aid Clinic, where information and forms are available to help folks navigate different interactions with the court system. Some of our most popular topics include child custody, social security and disability, tenant rights, education rights, expungement and divorce.

Our Wellness Center members tell us they truly value the ability to learn new things and socialize with others they might not otherwise have the chance to interact with. Says Wellness Center regular Suzanne Marin: "The staff here treat everyone with kindness and respect. They go out of their way to make every person feel important, loved and part of the community."

The Davie Country Wellness Center is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 am to 5 pm and is conveniently located at 142 Gaither Street in Mocksville.

Check out our calendar, or even better, just drop in and say hello. We look forward to meeting you and supporting your journey to whole-person wellness!

The Sport of Lacrosse in Davie County: Growing with Community Support

DAVIE COUNTY LACROSSE GROUP (DCLAX) has been introducing the game of lacrosse to local youth since 2014. The program began with just one team, and 20 players. This spring, Davie lacrosse wrapped up its fifth season with three teams, 52 players (ages 8 to 14) and 6 volunteer coaches.

In their fifth season, DCLAX hosted games for the Piedmont Community Lacrosse Association (PCLA). Two Saturdays this spring, Davie welcomed teams from as far away as Asheville to Burlington to compete in a total of 14 games at the Smith Grove Community Fields in Advance. Another milestone this season, DCLAX offered free rental equipment to first year players, requiring only a refundable deposit. This gave new players the opportunity to play the game before investing in necessary equipment.

"The great part about lacrosse is it combines the best of all sports. You can't help but become a better player in basketball, football, soccer or any other sport by playing lacrosse. You'll find pro athletes in many sports who have played lacrosse in the off season to supplement their training. It's the ultimate crossover sport," said President of DCLAX, Rich Maconochie.

The DCLAX mission is to provide youth in the community an environment that develops the ideals of good citizenship, sportsmanship, honesty, respect and integrity through the game of lacrosse. The league has a strong vision to grow the game of lacrosse in the Davie community and also serve as a program that prepares players for competitive play at the high school level. In addition, the league has a goal of beginning a girls lacrosse program in the near future.

Five Skills Your Child Needs to Land a Good Job (that they will never learn in school)

Contributed by Chuck Taylor, Sage Garden Care Center

YOUNG PEOPLE ENTERING the workforce today are clearly the most intelligent generation ever. They have access to knowledge and information like none before them. However, many of them are having a hard time finding and keeping jobs they would otherwise love because they lack one critical ingredient – Soft Skills.

Those who possess strong soft skills can interact with others well and are far more likely to move up in their careers than those without these skills. Soft skills are so important that businesses have come to value employees with them more than employees who possess a high technical knowledge, but little or no soft skills. Soft skills are much harder to teach on the job than technical skills.

If you want your child to be successful in the workplace, here are five ways to prepare them:

1. LET THEM FAIL

In an effort to keep grades high so they can get into a good college, parents hold the hands of their children with the best of intentions. But failing out of a good college because you couldn't do the work on your own is worse than graduating from a decent college. Let them get zeros for refusing to do their homework. You will be giving them the best gift, the knowledge their decisions have consequences for which they themselves are responsible.

2. REWARD FOR CHARACTER, NOT ABILITY

Working hard is a trait employers need. They need people who will stay with a project until they figure out the solution, whatever the solution may be. If you praise a child for their ability, anxiety can develop when they fear they have reached their maximum aptitude. Rewarding hard work will give birth to a strong work ethic. Working hard is a character trait just like honesty, fairness, and bravery.

3. FORCE THEM TO MAKE EYE CONTACT AND SHAKE HANDS

This is hard. Kids do not want to do things they are not comfortable with (refer to #2), but this is critical for success. Eye contact is the easiest way to convey trust and honesty. When someone doesn't make eye contact our natural assumption is that they are hiding something. Teach your children how to introduce themselves, look others in the eye, and give a firm handshake.

The Perfect Lie

I READ RECENTLY BITING your fingernails is a sign of perfectionism. It helps soothe boredom and frustration. I have been plagued with this socially unacceptable behavior my whole life. But what strikes me as ironic, if I am trying so hard to be perfect, I have mangled my fingers which in turn look so imperfect. I then suffer from the pain of my bleeding fingers, hide them all the while feeling shame and complete embarrassment. Isn't this just a crazy example how perfectionism is such a lie?

I have this overwhelming need to be moving and doing something rather than nothing. This is one of the very reasons it is so hard for me to be still and wait on God. I completely identify with Martha and her plight. She struggled with her hostessing duties making sure everything was perfect while Jesus was at her house. She was so annoyed at Mary, her sister, who did nothing to help and sat at his feet only listening to him. And to her dismay, when she complained to Jesus, he told her Mary had chosen what was better. He also told Martha to stop being so upset, distracted by her preparations and to quit worrying about things that didn't matter. (Luke 10:40-42)

How many times have you felt like Martha? Distracted by preparations or worrying about laundry and those closets you never seem to get to? When I think about the time I have wasted just obsessing about the work necessary for my family, I realize just how much I have lost in fellowship with them. That is exactly what happened to Martha. Mary was in the moment with Jesus. She understood few things were needed for his visit other than listening to him and building a closer relationship.

Being perfect is the perfect lie. We can't be perfect no matter how hard we try. Just the struggle of perfectionism can urge us to develop nasty habits or destroy us. But, what I do know, if we ask Jesus to help us when these urges start we can react differently. When that feeling of fear of failure starts to take over, we can turn it over to him to wash us with his strength and peace. In time we will begin to believe through him, we are enough even with all of our imperfections. That driving force to make our surroundings perfect will subside in time. See, we are all broken and imperfect. The only thing that puts us back together is Jesus. If we are never still and busy preparing for him, we will never experience him. (Psalm 46:10)

Chandra Holcomb, founder of P.A.T.H Women's Prayer Ministry

Dear Heavenly Father,

Thank you so much for the lessons Jesus taught us. We appreciate the lesson of balancing the great gifts given to us. Please give us strength and peace when we are fighting our fear of failure. Please take the idol of perfectionism away from us and help us to accept where we are in our lives. Continue to help us to slow down in the summer months and rely on you more.

We ask this in Jesus Christ name,
Amen

DAVIE COUNTY HISTORY: The Pearson Family

By Marie Craig

IN 1800, there was no Davie County and no town of Cooleemee. Our area was called the Forks of the Yadkin and was included in the very large Rowan County. But in the area that we now know as Cooleemee, Davie County, a large family with surname of Pearson lived, farmed, and prospered 200 years ago.

Richmond Pearson was born in Virginia in 1751 and married Sarah Haden in 1772. They had four children: Elizabeth "Betsey" Pearson who married Col. John Stokes, General Jesse A. Pearson who married Ann Steele and later Elizabeth Causey, Honorable Joseph Pearson who married three times, Nancy Anna Maria McLin, Eleanor Brent, and Catherine Worthington, and Richmond Pearson Jr. who married Elizabeth McLin, sister of Joseph's first wife. They possibly had a fifth child, George, who is mentioned in Richmond's will but in no other document.

After Sarah died, Richmond came to North Carolina and married Elizabeth Coit Mumford in 1791. They had six children: Sallie Pearson who married Isaac Croom, Margaret Eliza Pearson who married William Henry Gibbs, Charles R. Pearson who never married and went to Georgia, Richmond Mumford Pearson who married Margaret McClung Williams and later Mary Louise McDowell, Giles William Pearson who married Elizabeth Ellis, and John Stokes Pearson who married Annabella Beattie.

Researching families of long ago can be very confusing because of given names being used over and over. There are at least six Richmond Pearsons and many Elizabeths. Records are scarce for families long ago. This Pearson family had some heroes and prominent members, so there was some documentation for this family.

The patriarch was active in the Revolutionary War in the militia and gained his title of Colonel. He also served as representative in state government. He owned thousands of acres in what is now Cooleemee and the adjoining areas. He had a grist mill on the South Yadkin River. This spot of land next to the river which descended on rocky shoals was the main attraction for buying this land. A dam was built which is north of the current dam. Falling water was harnessed to create energy. His large home was along the river north of the dam.

All ten of his children (possibly eleven) lived in this area and some were prominent in political and military service. Betsey's husband served in the Revolutionary War. Jesse served many terms in state government and was a Regimental Commander in the War of 1812. Joseph was representative in the federal government. Sallie and her husband moved to Alabama and established a plantation that is now on the National Historic Registry. Richmond Mumford became an attorney, had a law school in Mocksville for about ten years and moved it to Yadkin County, and was Chief Justice in Raleigh. He had a son Richmond Mumford Pearson Jr. who was an attorney in Asheville and served in state and federal congresses and was appointed consul to several foreign countries.

The patriarch, Colonel Pearson, his son Richmond Mumford Pearson, and a grandson, Richmond Mumford Pearson Jr., all named their homes Richmond Hill. The only structure remaining is the one in Yadkin County which is a museum in a park.

There is a family cemetery near Cooleemee where only nine graves have tombstones. This graveyard was overgrown but in 1999, the owner of the Asheville Richmond Hill paid local men to clear vegetation and debris. A massive rock wall was improved. In 2000, the same benefactor paid Wake Forest University Archaeological Department to make a study of the cemetery and to reposition the broken and scattered tombstones. There is a report of their findings. Their ground penetrating radar determined that there are approximately 30 more graves without markers. In 2009, the Sons of the American Revolution placed a commemorative marker at the grave of Col. Pearson.

The Pearson family gives us an insight into the history of our Davie County 200 years ago.

This is the old Cooleemee dam across the Yadkin River, probably the winter of 1890. On the right is the old grist mill.

4. LET THEM TAKE RESPONSIBILITY FOR THEIR ACTIONS.

Far too often we trade kindness for honesty. A child may do something wrong and parents dismiss it with "It's only a small thing. It's not that big a deal." Owning our issues is healthy. When people make a mistake and own up to it in the workplace, senior leaders are impressed. Those who pass the buck because they are afraid of others knowing they messed up, will be seen as making excuses and will not last. If the behavior is not okay, say so, discipline appropriately, and move on. It is better to have hurt feelings as a child than to be a 30-year-old adult unable to hold down a job for fear their boss will not like them.

5. SPEAK TO ADULTS.

If school work is important, then this is equally as important. Children who can speak to adults will fare much better in life as an adult. Tie their ability to speak to adults to the rewards or consequences you offer for completing schoolwork. Children who can speak with adults will have greater confidence with superiors as adults. Senior leadership will always value confidence over insecurity, no matter how technically intelligent someone is.

Most young adults today who do not possess soft skills were never taught them. They are not lazy, and they can learn them. It begins with intentional parenting to value soft skills at least as much as school subject matter is valued.

The B.E.S.T. Program is offered by Sage Garden Care Center and teaches soft skills to those seeking to improve their roles in the workplace. Use code DAVIELiFE to get 30% off. Or ask how we can customize a program for your student or your business.

journey. Prayer is being in partnership with God. He is our Father and we are his children. This book will help us understand we have a greater role in prayer. It is about relationship and how we, with God can move mountains.

VISIONEERING: GOD'S BLUEPRINT FOR DEVELOPING AND MAINTAINING VISION BY ANDY STANLEY

Are you trying to figure out God's purpose for your life? Visioneering is a great source for those who have trouble defining what could be. Emphasis on the little things that can help accomplish one's purpose. With all the self-help and management skill-goal reaching books this one is surprising because the focus is on a true christian life — a life of total surrender to God, a life of sacrificing your will for his while giving practical application.
