DEAR CHAMBER MEMBERS:

2019 promises to be an exciting new year. Last year, the Chamber celebrated our 100th anniversary and we hired our new president and CEO, Mark Kleinschmidt. It was also a year where our community experienced an incredibly tragic day at the Capital Gazette newspaper that none of us will forget.

Entering this new year under Mark's leadership will be exciting, with all that has been planned. We will be focusing on expanding our advocacy, education and networking opportunities across a variety of events and programs. Your participation in these activities will enable us to continue to grow the Anne Arundel County Chamber of Commerce and your business.

The Chamber continues to serve as the voice of business and provides strategic leadership and engagement in building the future of business through information, collaboration, advocacy and services on behalf of all business and non-profits in our community.

Through participation in the Chamber, members are able to accomplish collectively what they could not do individually. As a Chamber member, you belong to an organization that can make a difference in Anne Arundel County. Your business is an important part of an overall team effort.

On behalf of the board and our staff, we wish you a wonderful, safe new year. By working together, we will continue to ensure a strong business climate in our community.

Sincerely,
Dennis C. Murphy

WHY JOIN?

THERE ARE TWO MAIN REASONS BUSINESSES JOIN A CHAMBER OF COMMERCE – to promote and effect positive change in the community and/or to help their business grow. The Anne Arundel County Chamber of Commerce supports both business and community investor members to help meet their membership goals.

The Business Investor & Business Builder:

Businesses who view the chamber of commerce as a business organization that can help them become more knowledgeable on the regional economy, provide tools to help them build awareness for their business and to keep them informed on what is going on in the regional marketplace, and how to use that knowledge to benefit their business growth plans.

These businesses seek to utilize the Chamber of Commerce as a resource for improving and growing their business, and as an organization that can help them establish their business as a trusted community partner among regional consumers.

The Community Investor & Community Builder:

Businesses who view the Chamber of Commerce as a business organization that can promote and effect positive change in the community – an organization that can get things done to improve the business climate in Anne Arundel County.

These businesses want to be part of a collective effort to improve their community, the regional economy, and our quality of life by investing in the positive initiatives the chamber of commerce undertakes, as well as volunteer to participate on committees and task forces with other business leaders to identify opportunities and challenges in the community that need addressing.

"IN AN EFFORT TO DRIVE OUR COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT, I tried many different networking events. At these events, I was fairly underwhelmed with the attendance and the engagement of the attendees. Then I was introduced to Karen Cline, and the Anne Arundel County Chamber of Commerce has been different since day one. Karen and staff are delightful and actively growing partnerships throughout the county (and beyond). I got excited and began attending some events. What I found is a community of members who are open to conversations about community involvement, emerging technologies, investment in our community's future. This Chamber is full of energy. I highly recommend jumping in with two feet and becoming part of the change you want to see in your community."

A RICH HISTORY LAYS THE GROUNDWORK FOR MODERN ACHIEVEMENTS

Anne Arundel County is home to the state capital of Annapolis, a thriving business environment and miles of waterways that attract thousands of visitors each year. The first European settlers arrived in 1649, and the region has steadily grown into a prosperous, lively area that is an attractive place to live, work and play.

Local residents love the county's proximity to the major business centers of Washington, D.C. and Baltimore. Anne Arundel is also home to BWI Thurgood Marshall, the Baltimore-Washington region's busiest airport, which provides easy access to destinations around the world.

Anne Arundel is an economic engine for Maryland. Fort George G. Meade is the state's largest employer, with 53,733 workers. In addition, the National Security Agency, also located in Fort Meade, provides an estimated 35,000 jobs (the actual number is classified).

The eastern part of the county is best known for its hundreds of miles of creek and river waterfront, stretching from the bungalow communities of Bodkin, Rock and Stoney creeks off the Patapsco River to the quiet waterside towns of Mayo, Galesville, Shady Side and Deale. There is also a mix of quaint fishing towns, quiet residential communities and farmland.

Annapolis is the historic center of the county, and visitors love to traverse the narrow, brick-paved streets adorned with stately 18th- and 19th-century homes. The Maryland State House is the oldest state capital still in continuous legislative use (built from 1772 to 1797) and the only state house ever to serve as the nation's capitol (1783 to 1784). Another popular attraction is the 18th-century William Paca House, which has a stunning two-acre colonial garden. Annapolis is also home to the United States Naval Academy, built in 1845 on the site of Fort Severn, overlooking Annapolis Harbor and the Severn River.

Still, Anne Arundel might be most popular for its maritime traditions. There are the fishermen, crabbers and oystermen who have made their living on the Chesapeake Bay for centuries, and the region has a famous seafood industry with local products (think blue crabs and oysters). In addition, marine businesses, from marinas, boatyards and boating supply stores to banks and insurance companies, thrive in this nautical environment. Thousands of recreational boaters, sailors and anglers are attracted to the local waterways.

Malls, Main Streets Offer a World of Options

EXPLORE SMALL, INDEPENDENTLY OWNED SHOPS along Annapolis' historic downtown streets. Experience Maryland's largest mall, which boasts an Egyptian-style movie theater, a medieval castle and a bustling casino right next door. In Anne Arundel County, you'll find everything – from a bespoke suit or a striking work of art, to cute souvenirs and edgy fashion.

Just a short drive west of Annapolis, you'll find the county's most popular shopping options. Westfield Mall has major anchor stores, such as Macy's and JC Penney, and more than 200 additional stores and two food courts. The Festival at Riva, Annapolis Harbour Center and Annapolis Towne Centre at Parole are also nearby. Their offerings include discount stores, mass merchandisers, beauty salons, restaurants and local businesses.

The crown jewel of Anne Arundel shopping is Arundel Mills Mall in Hanover, which boasts 250 stores, with more than a dozen anchor stores. Live! Casino and Hotel, the most widely visited casino in the state, and additional major retailers are adjacent to the mall. Arundel Mills is within walking distance of several hotels, attesting to its status as a major tourist destination.

Up north a bit is Marley Station Mall in Glen Burnie, a staple among the county's shopping venues for 30 years. Today, it features three anchor stores and dozens of smaller establishments and eateries.

The Village at Waugh Chapel and adjacent Waugh Chapel Towne Centre in Odenton on the west side of the county are relative newcomers to the shopping scene. They bring a grand assortment of shops, food stores, movies, restaurants and services to their area of Anne Arundel County.

ANNE ARUNDEL COUNTY'S CHESAPEAKE BAY LOCATION

means that Maryland blue crabs are a staple, including mounds of steamed crustaceans and the famous crab cakes, often served with a waterfront view.

Perhaps the best venue to sample these Maryland favorites is at Pappas Restaurant and Sports Bar in Glen Burnie, whose crab cakes have made the list of "Oprah's Favorite Things."

(Jimmy Cantler's Riverside Inn in Annapolis is a great choice too!)

Of course, it's not all about the crab. Chefs in Annapolis and beyond are turning out cuisine influenced by flavors from around the globe. Head to Paladar Latin Kitchen for a taste of South America, or dig into Italian favorites at Trattoria Arturo. Try the pillowy pancakes at brunch staple Miss Shirley's Café, or cut into prime USDA beef at The Chop House.

ADMIRE THE ELEGANT DANCERS

at the Ballet Theatre of Maryland. Browse small galleries for the perfect piece to add to your home. Travel back in time at the Maryland Renaissance Festival. Take in a band at Rams Head on Stage. Head to one of Annapolis' many pubs, taverns and bars for a drink after the show. No matter what you choose to do, you'll find plenty to like on the Anne Arundel cultural scene.

ANNAPOLIS

The city's state-designated Arts & Entertainment district runs along West Street from Calvert Street and includes parts of Spa Road. One of its main anchors is Maryland Hall for the Creative Arts, which hosts photography and sculpture exhibits, offers art classes and puts on performances of anything from opera to soul. The Annapolis Symphony Orchestra also performs here.

Along the walk, you can also enjoy public artworks, take in a show at the Compass Rose Theater, dine at Sailor Oyster Bar or Chesapeake Brewing Co., or just browse one of the many galleries. You'll also pass Rams Head on Stage, which puts on live music nightly.

AROUND THE COUNTY

Throughout the county, there are plenty more galleries to explore, often showcasing and selling the work of the area's up-and-coming artists.

Don't miss the Chesapeake Arts Center in Brooklyn Park, whose Hal Gomer Gallery provides an opportunity to get to know the work of local artists. The center also puts on performances of musicals and plays.

Smaller gems include the Kauffman Theater at the Pascal Center for the Performing Arts in Arnold, and the Pasadena Theatre Company, which performs mainly at Anne Arundel Community College's Humanities Recital Hall in Arnold.

Amazing performances of acting, sword-swallowing, juggling and stage fighting are also on display between August and October each year at the Maryland Renaissance Festival in Crownsville.

The region is home to scenic waterways, parks with an abundance of trails and rustic woods that provide an escape from the hubbub of everyday life. It's the perfect place for a day trip or even an extended stay.

WINTER

When November's chill opens the door for some frosty fun, visit the outdoor ice-skating rink in Quiet Waters Park. There is another outdoor ice-skating rink in the heart of Glen Burnie, which is fun for the entire family. With most of the county's parks open year-round, sled and saucer riders can enjoy their sprawling snow-covered hills. During the holidays, visitors have many options, and Lights on the Bay, which is held at Sandy Point State Park from mid-November to January 1, is one of the best. The two-mile scenic drive along the Chesapeake Bay sports 70 animated and stationary light displays that will amaze the whole family.

SPRING

Flowers bloom throughout the region, and hundreds of species of birds return from their winter habitats. Established in 1954, the Anne Arundel Bird Club hosts field trips for members and the public alike. In Fort Smallwood Park, you can watch the raptors' annual voyage. Spring is the perfect time to take a tour of the 23 acres of archeological vistas and floral landscapes in Historic London Town and Gardens. If you just want to get out on a nice day, try the Anne Arundel County Trails, an extensive network that includes the B&A Trail, the BWI Trail, the Broadneck Peninsula Trail and the WB&A Trail.

SUMMER

The Chesapeake Bay's various beaches are great for quiet escapes and weekend getaways. Spend an entire day at Severn Beach, which boasts facilities for swimming, fishing and boating. Tired of lounging around? Take a walk along the Spa Creek Trail. For a more adventurous outing, both Herring Bay and the Patuxent Water Trail offer kayaking and canoeing. Sandy Point State Park is a perfect spot for a boat ride, swimming and hiking. Finally, Annapolis is known as "America's Sailing Capital" and the perfect place to sharpen your nautical skills.

FALL

Enjoy spectacular views of the seasonal foliage. Patapsco State Park's vast forests stun all those who witness an eruption of color that complements the season's cooler temperatures. Quiet Waters Park is spread over 340 acres and is open year-round. There are also many trails throughout Anne Arundel that can accommodate hiking and biking. # Anne Arundel Loves the Spirit of Competition

FROM BIG-TIME COLLEGE FOOTBALL TO SAILING RACES TO CHAMPIONSHIP GOLF COURSES,

Anne Arundel County is a popular destination for sports enthusiasts.

Annapolis is regarded as the sailing capital of the United States. Regattas flourish in this nautical region, which is home to two of the nation's largest boat shows. Paddling enthusiasts also have plenty to explore throughout the county's seven scenic rivers.

In the colder months, there are four ice-skating rinks that cater to all levels of experience. There are also several state-of-the-art indoor sports complexes that host multiple youth and adult leagues and tournaments, ranging from soccer to lacrosse.

offense, which sometimes amasses more than 500 yards per game. The Midshipmen host some of the top teams in the nation, which brings visitors from around the country. In addition to football, the Naval Academy features 26 other collegiate sports that provide entertainment for the entire family. Each year, the men's basketball program hosts the Veterans Classic, a doubleheader that routinely includes a team ranked in the national polls.

Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium also hosts Chesapeake Bayhawks professional lacrosse and the annual Military Bowl college football game each December.

The St. John's College vs. U.S. Naval Academy Croquet Match – known as the Annapolis Cup – is another popular attraction every April. It is considered the largest croquet event in the world.

Anne Arundel Communities Offer History, Natural Beauty and Travel Convenience

ANNAPOLIS

Annapolis is at the heart of Anne Arundel County – in terms of its history, culture, sophistication and, without a doubt, charm. It's hard to walk or ride very far along Annapolis' brick streets and sidewalks without being struck by the beauty of its early American homes, the historic State Capitol or the stately Government House, the governor's residence.

The city boasts more 18th-century buildings than nearly any other place in America. The City Dock in the middle of town is a great spot to sit or walk and watch the skipjacks, yachts and schooners come and go.

Annapolis is within commuting distance of Baltimore and Washington, D.C., and as Maryland's capital city, is home to highly educated residents working for the state and federal governments, as well as the private sector.

NORTH COUNTY

Northern Anne Arundel County extends to the Baltimore City and County lines, taking in the suburban neighborhoods of Severn, Severna Park and Glen Burnie, all the way to Brooklyn Park. This is the county's most populated area. It also is convenient to Baltimore City and County along I-97 and the Baltimore Beltway, and to BWI Thurgood Marshall Airport.

All of this development means plenty of commercial activity along Ritchie Highway and a burst of commercial and residential development near the airport and in the vicinity of Arundel Mills Mall, with the nearby Live! Casino and Hotel.

SENIOR HOUSING

Anne Arundel County and Annapolis are popular destinations for seniors looking to retire along the waterfront. As a result, local developers have created 55-and-older communities that offer living arrangements to suit an active retirement as well as long-term care. Contact the Anne Arundel County Department of Aging and Disabilities for more information: 410-222-4464, www.aacounty.org/aging.

SOUTH COUNTY

South County is the locals' name for the southern portion of Anne Arundel, from just outside Annapolis to the Calvert County line. The area is still largely rural, with winding roads and miles of Chesapeake Bay coastline. It remains home to watermen and sailors in towns such as Deale, Galesville and Shadyside.

South County is also a second home and tourist destination for those looking to get away from nearby metropolitan areas. It offers many favorite stops, such as the venerable Mike's Crab House, marinas, waterfront B&Bs and outdoor watering holes. Though still more sparsely populated than other parts of Anne Arundel, South County is seeing increasing interest from developers as residents work to strike a balance between preservation and commercial growth.

WEST COUNTY

West County starts at the eastern edges of Howard and Prince George's counties and extends west to just beyond Route 3 south in Gambrills. The unincorporated communities include Crofton, Gambrills, Jessup, Laurel and Odenton. Major highways include the Baltimore-Washington Parkway and Routes 3 and 32. The area is a short drive from BWI Thurgood Marshall Airport.

A focal point of West County is Fort George G. Meade, near Odenton. As one of the state's largest employers, the military installation employs more than 50,000 military, civilian and contractor personnel. Fort Meade continues to fuel area growth, as new neighborhoods and commercial districts try to meet the needs of residents and commuters.

The Maryland Transit Administration train station in Odenton is a popular stop, offering both commuter and Amtrak service. It's only a short ride to Baltimore, BWI Airport and Washington, D.C.

Crofton, which began as one of the earliest planned communities in the 1960s, also is a growth center, with good schools, golf courses and many other amenities. West County is also close to Arundel Mills, a primary entertainment and shopping destination with its adjacent casino, hotel and residential options.

EAST COUNTY

East Anne Arundel County encompasses Pasadena and neighborhoods east of Route 2 to the shores of the Chesapeake Bay and its many tributaries. Its residential options range from moderately priced apartments and townhouses to gated waterfront communities. One of the most exclusive is Gibson Island, which began as a summer retreat but is now a year-round, gated area with limited access for non-residents.

Pasadena is convenient to Marley Station Mall, offering a selection of department and specialty stores, a movie theater and many restaurants. Other East County highlights include plentiful parks, boat access and a small-town feel.

Public and Private Schools, Colleges Keep Anne Arundel Competitive

A QUALITY EDUCATION IS CRUCIAL TO THE HEALTH, WEALTH AND GROWTH OF ANNE ARUNDEL COUNTY. With the importance of technology in everyone's lives growing, and the increasing need for post-high school training or instruction, the county recognizes that students must be technologically savvy and have a head start on career training or college.

Anne Arundel continues to be at the forefront of providing technological skills. The county's public-school classrooms all have internet access and one computer for every 1.4 students. To give high school students a head start, they can also earn college credits through a partnership with Anne Arundel Community College's Early Access to College Program.

Anne Arundel County Public Schools has long had a sterling record as one of the nation's outstanding districts. Today, the 80,000-student school district works hard to maintain its reputation. Among other honors this year, the district is one of five nationally to earn a first-place Magna Award from the National School Boards Association for its successful efforts to work closely with ninth-graders, who are often at particular risk of falling behind or dropping out.

In addition to the county's 126 public schools and centers, Anne Arundel also has a robust private school scene. More than 85 parochial and independent schools educate about 16,000 students in pre-K through 12th grades.

The Anne Arundel County Public Library, with its 16 branches, also contributes to the area's education and technology know-how. A new Annapolis library, under construction on West Street, is expected to open in early 2020. The library system has also opened a branch at the Annapolis (Westfield) Mall to serve shoppers who might not otherwise go out of their way to a library.

Higher education also shines in Annapolis and the surrounding county.

Anne Arundel Community College (AACC) in Arnold is a fully accredited, public two-year college that serves about 50,000 students annually in 3,500 credit, noncredit and certification courses. Since 1961, AACC has been serving the diverse educational needs of county residents – from those who need to complete GED classes to career-changers jumping into a new field to traditional students.

The college focuses on the needs of area employers, preparing students through certification and associate programs for available and potential jobs. The National Security Agency and the Department of Homeland Security have designated AACC as a National Center of Academic Excellence in Information Assurance Two-Year Education.

The Aspen Institute recently recognized AACC as one of the top 150 community colleges in the country when it invited the college to apply for the 2019 Aspen Prize for Community College Excellence. The Aspen Prize honors those institutions that achieve exceptional outcomes for student success – while in college and after.

The county's other institutions of higher education – St. John's College and the U.S. Naval Academy – serve students with specific interests and career goals.

St. John's, in Annapolis, is a coeducational liberal arts college with about 450 students that was founded in 1696 as King William's School. It is the third-oldest institution of higher learning in the nation. It follows a classical curriculum based on the great books of Western civilization. All graduates receive a Bachelor of Liberal Arts degree.

The U.S. Naval Academy trains future U.S. Navy and U.S. Marine Corps officers who, as midshipmen and women, commit to five years of military service in exchange for an all-expenses-paid college education. All 4,000 mids live in Bancroft Hall, the largest dormitory in the world with 1,700 dorm rooms, a dining hall, a gym, a post office and other amenities. The sprawling campus on the Severn River is also a popular tourist attraction.

Public and Private Sectors Both Have a Strong Presence in Anne Arundel

Businesses in Anne Arundel County have access to a wide variety of attractive incentives. The Anne Arundel Economic Development Corporation (AAEDC) maintains a Small Business Resource Center that provides services free of charge, including advice on business-plan development, financing, market research, workforce development and marketing. AAEDC's Next Stage Tech Fund provides a lifeline of financing to help technology companies reach the next stage of growth. Startups are eligible for grants between $50,000 and $250,000 at zero percent interest.

After Fort Meade, Anne Arundel's biggest public-sector employers are public schools (14,000) and the State of Maryland (12,132). In the private sector, global aerospace and defense company Northrop Grumman leads the pack, with 7,725 employees in Anne Arundel. Another major source of employment is Booz Allen Hamilton, a provider of information operations and signal intelligence solutions, with 2,100 employees. Lockheed Martin, an engineering firm, has 925 employees.

Higher-education institutions account for another large part of the workforce, particularly the U.S. Naval Academy (2,340 employees) and Anne Arundel Community College (1,849 employees).

In the health care industry, the Anne Arundel Health System and University of Maryland Baltimore Washington Medical Center account for a combined 6,901 jobs.

ANNE ARUNDEL COUNTY IS HOME TO MARYLAND'S LARGEST EMPLOYER,

Fort George G. Meade, along with one of the state's largest casinos and its biggest mall. There is a strong job base in both the public and private sectors, with some of the major industries including defense, technology, education and healthcare.

The county also consistently boasts one of the area's lowest unemployment rates (3.6%, compared to Maryland's 4.2%, as of August 2018). At the same time, the labor force is highly qualified, with nearly 40 percent of residents having a bachelor's degree or higher, according to census data.

Altogether, Fort Meade is home to 119 organizations, including the National Security Agency (NSA). Its total economic impact has been estimated at more than $30 billion. Between 2018 and 2024, Fort Meade projects that cyber-related growth alone will bring another 2,991 workers to the facility. In addition, 7,200 NSA employees currently working in regional leased facilities are slated to be relocated to the main post by 2028.

Another major county employer is BWI Thurgood Marshall Airport, which provides more than 24,000 direct and indirect jobs to local residents and supports another 82,277 jobs through the visitors it brings to the region. In 2017, BWI set a new record for passengers served, surpassing 26 million. BWI produces more than $9.3 billion in total economic activity for the state and region and has added 8,751 jobs since 2015 alone, according to a recent economic-impact study.

Live! Casino in Hanover features more than 200 live-action table games, some 4,000 slot machines and two high-limit rooms. It attracts more than 14 million visitors a year, a number that is sure to grow with the recent opening of the adjacent Live! Hotel. In addition to its 310 overnight rooms, the hotel boasts a 1,500-seat concert venue. A further expansion of the hotel's meeting and event space, to be completed in 2019, will bring the total seating capacity to 4,000.

Health Care Providers Offer County Residents An Array of Services, Locations

ANNE ARUNDEL COUNTY RESIDENTS ARE FORTUNATE TO HAVE TWO OUTSTANDING REGIONAL MEDICAL CENTERS, an active health department, many urgent care centers and abundant home health care services to meet their health and wellness needs close to home.

The two medical centers provide much of the healthcare in Anne Arundel County through their inpatient facilities, clinics, doctors' offices and diagnostic centers. Both the Anne Arundel County Medical Center (AAMC) in Annapolis and the University of Maryland Baltimore Washington Medical Center (UM BWMC) in Glen Burnie provide inpatient and outpatient services throughout the county.

AAMC operates a 425-bed hospital, medical group, imaging services and a research center. It has outpatient centers in Bowie, Kent Island, Pasadena, Odenton and Waugh Chapel, and the medical group members practice in more than 50 locations within and outside of Anne Arundel County. In all, the regional center reaches a million people annually.

AAMC broke ground in late 2018 for a new mental health facility that will consolidate its inpatient and outpatient mental health care and substance abuse treatment in one place. The 16 beds planned for residential treatment will double the number available in the county, and the facility will be able to treat 900 people a year who otherwise would have to go outside the county for treatment. The facility is scheduled to open in 2021.

With 4,700 employees and more than 1,100 volunteers, AAMC has a wide reach in the county. A leader in women's services, it delivers about 5,500 babies annually and has a Level III neonatal intensive care unit. U.S. News & World Report ranked AAMC as the sixth-best hospital in Maryland for 2018-2019.

UM BWMC in Glen Burnie, an affiliate of the University of Maryland Medical Center, comprises a number of centers dedicated to special health issues. The Tate Cancer Center offers a coordinated care plan that provides patients with treatment and care in one facility; the Spine & Neuroscience Center offers specialty care for brain, spine and nervous system conditions; and the Aiello Breast Center provides comprehensive care that addresses a patient's physical and emotional well-being.

The medical center, also ranked sixth by U.S. News & World Report, became the first hospital in Maryland and the mid-Atlantic to install a robotic imaging system to help doctors identify and treat vascular conditions and aortic aneurysms in the center's dedicated Vascular Center.

The medical center has nearly 290 beds at its Glen Burnie facility, with more than 700 physicians and 2,200 additional health care professionals on staff.

The Anne Arundel County Health Department is also a key player in the county's well-being. The department estimates that it serves 184,000 residents directly every year at its 12 centers and offices across the county.

The Healthy Anne Arundel Coalition, managed by the health department, sets priorities for improving public health. The coalition's steering committee is currently focused on obesity prevention, management of substance abuse and access to care. The county also places a high priority on the opioid epidemic that's affecting all communities.

The department also offers countless other services – flu shots, prenatal classes and smoking-cessation and mental health care programs – and offers low-cost doctor visits and diagnostic services to uninsured or underinsured residents. The health department also has advisors on staff to help residents access affordable health care.

Roads, Rails and Airports Offer Convenient Traveling Options

ANNE ARUNDEL COUNTY IS STRATEGICALLY LOCATED IN THE MID-ATLANTIC CORRIDOR, providing easy access to the business centers of neighboring Baltimore and Washington, D.C. The region, which offers a number of public transportation options, is widely regarded as having efficient, easily accessed and environmentally friendly transportation options.

Commuters have seamless access to mass transit services – a green way to travel because it helps reduce emissions. Other sustainable transportation alternatives include green locomotives, hybrid MTA buses and electric Amtrak rail systems. Over the years, mass transit has become a safer alternative for travel and the environment.

Expanded pedestrian and bicycle routes allow residents to easily walk or pedal to work, offering another travel alternative.

YOU CAN GET ANYWHERE FROM HERE

Anne Arundel County is home to interstate highways, Amtrak and Maryland Rail Commuter (MARC) service, light rail and the state's primary airport, making transportation simple for both residents and travelers who are going to Baltimore, Washington, D.C., or any points beyond.

AIRPORTS

BWI Thurgood Marshall Airport provides passenger and cargo services with nearly 700 national and international flights daily on 36 airlines, including passenger, commuter, charter and cargo services. BWI Marshall is the busiest airport in the Baltimore-Washington region. Midway through 2018, the airport had continued a streak of setting new monthly passenger records in 35 of the past 36 months.

Anne Arundel County is also home to Tipton Airport in Odenton. Formerly a U.S. Army airport, the airport was closed in 1995 as part of the Base Realignment & Closure Act of 1988 and reopened as a private airport in 1999. This airport offers helicopter tours, flight training and private flights through the clubs that operate there.

HIGHWAYS

Baltimore and Annapolis are connected by I-97, providing easy access to BWI Thurgood Marshall Airport from most sections of the county. The Baltimore-Washington Parkway (Md. Route 295) runs north/south along the county's western edge, providing easy access to I-95 and Md. Routes 100 and 32, major east/west limited-access highways. Route 175 now accommodates additional commuters to Fort Meade as a result of BRAC. Another connection between Annapolis and Baltimore, Ritchie Highway (Route 2 North), is lined by major shopping centers. Md. Route 214, south of Route 50/301, is a great alternate route for getting to Washington, D.C. and its surrounding suburbs.

RAILROADS

Maryland Rail Commuter (MARC) links BWI Thurgood Marshall Airport to Baltimore and Washington, D.C. BWI also connects to Amtrak's Northeast Corridor, allowing seamless transportation to further points north, including Philadelphia, New York and Boston. The MTA Light Rail links the airport's international pier to Hunt Valley, Baltimore City and business and retail centers in northern Anne Arundel County.

Diamond Thief

Most diamonds relieve you of too much of your money, because they pass through way too many hands.

Our diamonds, however, come straight from the cutter's hand to ours, bypassing the multiple traders, wholesalers and distributors who each tack on their markup.

Twice a year, we fly 6,000 miles to the diamond capital of the world to select only the finest stones directly from the source.

When fewer hands touch your diamond, the only thing that gets taken is your breath.
