The Total Home Show Returns!

The Total Home Show is returning to Woodland and is geared up to be better than ever.

This epic home and landscape event will take place at the Yolo County Fairgrounds Friday, March 29 through Sunday, March 31.

Plus, every attendee will have a chance to win an eight-day, seven-night Mexico resort stay or a three-day, two-night Las Vegas getaway. Two winners will be chosen daily.

“Expect a very friendly greeting and a mellow atmosphere,” said Show Coordinator Bob Bock. “This is an old fashioned home show like the way home shows used to be. Watch the fairgrounds come alive with indoor and outdoor displays, incredible food, prize giveaways, in-booth demonstrations and more.”

Visitors can anticipate a quality show with exhibitors spread across three exhibition halls as well as outdoor displays. There will be a wide array of top-notch exhibitors including remodeling experts, building contractors, kitchen and bath specialists, solar installers, landscape/hardscape design professionals and more.

“You could very easily change the name of the event from ‘Total Home Show’ to ‘Total Home Idea Show,’ because that’s exactly what it is,” Bock said. “Ideas don’t cost you anything.”

For its comeback year, the Total Home Show is hosting renowned ceramic artist Tom Wallick, the interior designer’s “designer.” Wallick specializes in porcelain crystalline pottery and his work of unique shapes, textures, and glazes will be on display, namely one-of-a-kind sinks.

His pottery is inspired from viewing ancient porcelain and antiquities at museums as a youth. See the full feature on Wallick and his craft in this tab.

As in years past there will be in-booth presentations and demonstrations on-going all three days. Look for cooking demonstrations by Kitchen Craft Cookware, leaders in the waterless cookware industry. The idea behind the company’s philosophy is to retain all of nature’s whole food nutrients in a meal while heating it.

“What makes home shows so popular is that it gives attendees the opportunity to arrive unannounced, without giving out any personal information, to talk to a number of extraordinary exhibitors and get the best deal – all on their own terms,” Bock said. “It gives people the chance to select who they feel will do the best job for whatever endeavor they are after, and all in one place.”

Besides exhibitors and vendors, attendees can look forward to fantastic food options. Family-owned and operated Ozark Backwoods BBQ will be on hand offering the highest quality in barbecue meats, delicious sides and salads.

Also on the menu will be Mexican fare by Fiesta Concessions, plus beverages and traditional fair food such as corn dogs, chicken strips and more from Java for You.

“Who doesn’t love home shows? It’s a unique opportunity to explore a myriad of different home and garden-related businesses all in one place — without pressure,” said Bock. “If you need spring therapy, or already have spring fever, this is the place you will find your antidote. Home show prices are the best prices, particularly at this stage in the economy. There’s no better time to get the best deal on home remodeling and improvements. That’s why we’re back.”

Tickets are $7 per person Friday through Sunday. On Friday only, seniors can pay a discount price of only $4. Discount coupons ($2 off) are available to print at woodlandtotalhomeshow.com, or look for them in the Daily Democrat, print or online, or at the registers at the Woodland Home Depot.

Win a Porcelain Crystalline Sink Designed by Tom Wallick

World renowned ceramic artist Tom Wallick will be a special guest at Woodland's Total Home Show, held Friday, March 29 through Sunday, March 31.

Dubbed the interior designer's "designer," Wallick specializes in crystalline porcelain art. His creations are all encompassing for home use from diamond ring holders to vases to salad bowls.

"I'm extremely excited to come to Woodland and participate in this show," said Wallick. "I'm especially looking forward to introducing all show attendees to my unique porcelain sinks. You won't find anything like them anywhere else."

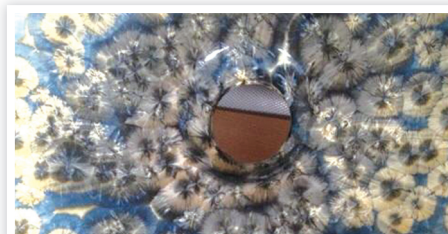

Wallick will be giving away one porcelain crystalline sink per day, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Sign up each day at his booth for a chance to win.

What makes Wallick's work unique is his use of crystals and minerals.

Crystalline glazes are specialty glazes that show visible and distinct crystal growth in the fired glaze. The self-taught artist has a collection of 140 specialized glazes.

"I add minerals from nature that match the crystals that I grow," Wallick explained. "I have dinosaur bones, Jurassic amber, crystals and minerals that no one else has — a crystalline collection that any museum would like to have."

Wallick's signature style is a piece with graceful lines adorned with "Prehistoric" texturing and crystalline glazing. Classic graceful lines are innate; the "Prehistoric" technique is his own invention.

Partially, it's his NASA-inspired kiln that allows for his pushing the limits of crystalline pottery.

"I'm able to reproduce atmospheric conditions as in nature to grow crystals — and I have the first gas-fire kiln on earth to do it," explained Wallick. "The programmable kiln is able to get colors that no one else can get in the electric kiln because you can control the atmosphere."

Wallick opened a 2,400-square-foot studio to the public in Chester, California, two years ago. There, he "makes anything and everything."

All of his porcelain kitchen pieces, many of which will be available at the Woodland Total Home Show, are oven, microwave and dishwasher safe.

But his foray into the interior design world began long before. A native of Southern California, Wallick began working commercially as a porcelain artist in the early 1970s.

Wallick produced a wide range of pottery styles, selling on both individual and mass-market scales. During this time he started an interior design firm in Newport Beach, furthering his acumen in the interior design and kitchen and bath trades.

Wallick single-handedly influenced the popularity of some home accessories that exploded onto the global market.

Porcelain vases, for example.

"After I started making bottles, every country in the world that produced home accessories was making bottles, flasks," said Wallick. "That's the influence that it was. Every TV set — you can't look at a scene today that doesn't have a bottle."

In addition to his pottery studio in Chester, Wallick is also an honorary resident at the American Museum of Porcelain Art in his hometown of Pomona, California, where he has a piece on display.

Visitors at Woodland's Total Home Show will be able to ask Wallick questions, and see examples of his many creations, including vessel sinks, vases, cover jars, large plates and chargers, wine coasters, decorative trays, urns, lamp bases, sculptures and pottery.

Saving Your Old Photos and Movies

There are many reasons to digitize memories captured on old media. Sharing old photos with family is pure joy. Protecting photos and movies from fire, flood and the ravages of time is just plain smart. No matter your reasons, a professional archiving lab like Photos Movies and More can help you from beginning to end and allow your family to remember and preserve precious memories for generations to come.

Getting started is easy! Start with a personalized organizing appointment, either at their Bay Area lab or at your home or office. At the appointment, their professional organizer helps you sort and organize your family photos and movies into date order. Once organized, you will have a clear idea of what the new digital collection will be. After your approval, the organizer carefully packs up your media and transports your newly organized collection to Photos Movies and More's high-tech scanning lab where every item is converted to a high-quality digital image and burned to archival DVDs or the media of your choice.

60 days later, your digital collection will be ready for your review. Then, your family can enjoy all of your media on your television, computer or any device you choose. As an extra bonus, all of the old photos and movies will be neatly organized in archival packaging and ready for long-term storage. Photo Movies and More's proven process has helped over 38,000 families. Don't put this off any longer. Contact Paul Newman with Photos Movies and More at (408) 800-1608 or email marketing@photosmoviesmore.com.

Remodeling Made Easy

Are you craving a kitchen or bath remodel, but are stressing about the hassle and time? Enter Granite Transformations, which takes the stress out of your renovation.

“All of our surfaces can be installed right over your existing countertops as a countertop overlay — eliminating the need for messy and time-consuming demolition,” said Owner Zaher Murad. “The process is fast, easy and we can complete your countertop installation in as little as one day.”

Granite Transformations is a one-stop-shop for remodeling. The company does everything from design through installation. Installation teams are specially trained in the Granite Transformation process and products — no subcontractors are used. Plus, ForeverSeal® technology means you never need to reseal your surface.

“Gone are the days of having to juggle multiple vendors. You can rest assured knowing your project is in good hands with attentive customer service professionals and installers who are specially trained to work with our products, so there’s very little room for error. Our goal is to make your remodel easy, fast and stress-free,” said Murad.

In addition to a Lifetime Limited Warranty, other Granite Transformations advantages include: Heat, stain and scratch-resistant; Mold and mildew-resistant;

Nonporous; Maintenance-free; Manufactured in the USA and Eco-friendly.

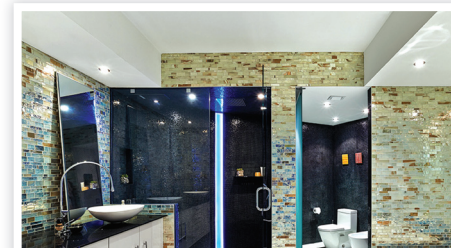

“By choosing Granite Transformations for your remodeling project, you are also making an eco-friendly choice as our simple no-demolition process prevents countless tons of materials from entering landfills,” Murad explained. “Additionally, many of our products — such as our recycled glass surfaces — contain up to 78-percent post-consumer recycled content.”

All surfaces at Granite Transformations are made with only the highest quality quartz, granite and recycled glass.

Surfaces are available in a variety of colors and patterns and are a perfect fit for home renovations such as kitchen countertops, bathroom vanities, shower walls, tub surrounds, fireplaces, flooring and more.

They are also perfect for commercial settings such as restaurant counters and bar tops, office tables and countertops, hotel kitchens and bathrooms.

Give your kitchen or bathroom the gorgeous look it deserves, without the stress and time associated with a traditional remodel.

Visit the Granite Transformations booth at the Woodland Total Home Show this weekend for event-only specials and pricing.

Discover Unique Specialty Products at the Total Home Show

Woodland’s Total Home Show is a great place to find ideas and deals on home improvements, renovations and landscaping. But it’s also a haven for discovering new specialty products to complete the home.

Take the Aroma Sense shower heads provided by Zen Home, for example. Experience aromatherapy every time you take a shower with the state of the art Aroma Sense shower-heads. Enjoy Natural Aroma Oils, and feel the healing effects of the inherent Vitamin C replenishment, effectively removing Chlorine and Calcium which is ideal for your hair and skin. This unique effective process uses plant-based Vitamin C to pull out impurities, chlorine and hard-water creating the most enjoyable and healthy shower experience available. Additionally, these luxury shower heads utilize a patented process improving water pressure 2x while reducing water usage by up to 20 percent. Available in both hand head and fixed head styles, these shower heads are truly the healthiest and most luxurious way to improve your shower experience. Zen Home is so sure you will love your new shower head and guarantees your purchase for life. Stop by to learn more and experience Zen in your home.

Another great item for people who enjoy eating outdoors is the PicnicPal. The PicnicPal is perfect for anyone who serves food outside, great for BBQs, camping, picnics and other outdoor entertaining. The tabletop food tent helps keep flies and meat bees off the meal. Included with the PicnicPal is the ice buddy. The ice buddy is an inflatable tray that you put ice in to keep salads, veggies, fruits and dips chilled. The PicnicPal is fully enclosed unlike others that tend to blow off and are cumbersome to use. The PicnicPal keeps food protected, and it saves from having the aggravation of swatting bugs away.

Prices at the Woodland Total Home Show will be well-below website prices. For more information, visit zenhomeusa.com, and picnicpal.com, respectively.
