Introduction

And the winners are...

For the past three years, the Idaho Business Review has offered the Reader Rankings program to its readers, and this year a record number of votes were received.

Reader Rankings joins a list of already successful awards programs produced by the Idaho Business Review. Those programs include Women of the Year, CEO of Influence, Accomplished Under 40, ICON Awards, Top Projects, Excellence in Finance and Leaders in Law.

In contrast to the other awards programs, the winners for Reader Rankings are chosen by the readers of the Idaho Business Review. A record 4,677 people cast their votes to determine the winners. Among the group of voters were nominees' peers, clients, colleagues and other business professionals and, of course, IBR readers.

The Idaho Business Review facilitated a two-phase survey process. The first phase was a call for nominations, and the second phase consisted of the voting process. Once the voting was complete, the top three winners were identified in each of the 50 categories.

Many of the nominees had fun promoting their company through social media and other marketing efforts to encourage their clients and staff to cast their votes. This created a healthy competition among all nominees.

I want to thank the IBR readers who participated in the voting process. Without your efforts, this program would not be possible. And congratulations to all the 2019 Reader Ranking winners! You should be proud to be voted best of the best among your peers!
