EAT THE FROG!

MARK TWAIN ONCE SAID, "If it's your job to eat a frog, it's best to do it first thing in the morning. And if it's your job to eat two frogs, it's best to eat the biggest one first."

I tend to use this reference a lot in my line of work — editing magazines is hard work, y'all — and I'm continually met with the same perplexed look when I say it. Although a bit odd, Twain is saying that when you have a big job to do (like planning a wedding!), it's best to knock out the hardest tasks first and as early in the process as possible. I have always taken this advice to heart when juggling my daily to-dos, but I feel it applies perfectly to busy brides too.

So what's your "frog?"

Choosing a venue? Interviewing wedding planners? Finding your dream wedding dress?

And where do you begin?

Well, reading this magazine is a great start!

Arkansas Bride is absolutely essential for planning a Natural State wedding. We know you'll want to grab every planning notebook at Barnes & Noble and pin all the things on Pinterest, but Arkansas Bride is your go-to source for finding the best local vendors — and seeing the genius of these pros come to life in creative styled shoots and real weddings.

For this issue, we wanted to spotlight the art of getting started in your planning process with a special feature dedicated to your to-do list — turn to page 113 for "10 Things to Do Immediately After Getting Engaged." In addition to the fabulous advice you'll find in that feature, we invite you to visit www.ArkansasBride.com/Planning-Tools for seven downloadable worksheets to help you stay organized, on time and on budget. Plus, our monthly, personalized e-newsletter will send you to-dos and reminders to keep you on track (sign up at www.ArkansasBride.com/Enews).

Of course, this edition — our thickest issue ever! — is filled to the brim with beautiful weddings, including those of former Miss America Savvy Shields, LA Rams quarterback Brandon Allen and CMT reality TV star Jessica Mack. There are also 25 pages of bridal fashion, tablescapes, trends and styled shoots to inspire every aspect of your big day.

Enjoy! And don't forget we're right here alongside you as you plan — find us on Instagram, Facebook or email us at Info@ArkansasBride.com if you ever need advice or recommendations. We love to help!

Sincerest wishes to you, dear brides, for the happiest time ever planning the wedding of your dreams.

With love,

Lindsay Irvin, Editor
Lindsay@ArkansasBride.com

After 10 years in the biz, here are my ...

TOP TIPS

FOR GETTING STARTED

1 Don't pick a date right away.

Hire your photographer first — you'd be shocked how far in advance they're booked.

3 Next, lock down your dream venue (secure a wedding date based on your venue's availability).

Hire professionals. Limit the use of friends with a camera, DJ equipment or a new calligraphy set. You're just going to have to take my word on this one.

5 Don't assume you can't afford a wedding planner. Take the time to interview a few wedding planners. They can actually save you money thanks to their vendor connections, designer discounts and vast experience.

Look for "Wedding Vendors We Love" throughout this magazine — these pros are among the best and most reputable in Arkansas!

7 Oh, and promise me that you won't skip videography. Our polled bride readers who passed up this service unanimously agree it was their biggest regret.

UNFORGETTABLE. INSPIRED BY YOU.

Taegan Lovelace was this issue's beautiful bride model for our fashion shoot on Page 82. In addition to her modeling work, she uses her interior design degree from the University of Arkansas Fay Jones School of Architecture and Design in her day job at Resource Design in Rogers. Taegan says her favorite part of the Arkansas Bride shoot was getting to wear the dresses. "It was a dreamy experience that has me excited about my own wedding day," she says. "I felt like a queen!"

MARK LEAMON
MODEL

CHRIS MARSH & JONATHAN PARKEY

October 13, 2018 / Little Rock
South on Main

ARKANSAS NATIVE (but then New Yorker) Jonathan Parkey was visiting his hometown of Jonesboro for his high school reunion when a friend mentioned a guy she thought Jonathan should meet. That night, after a few drinks, Jonathan friended Chris Marsh on social media and thus began the social media chase. The two finally met face-to-face when Jonathan was back home for the holidays. They proved to be a perfect match.

When it came to planning their wedding, the couple knew they wouldn't need to outsource for a planner. After moving back to Arkansas, Jonathan opened up his own event and design service firm, J. Parkey. Chris and Jonathan's wedding was an opportunity for the pair to flex their creative muscles, while making sure both of their unique styles were represented.

"We wanted the morning to feel as though we were hosting people in our home," Jonathan says. "This made it easy from a planning standpoint — we just kept going back to this idea that we were hosting a party. The details followed naturally. One of the other major details we were also unwavering on was the date. Sixty-four years ago on our wedding date, my grandparents (two of the most influential people in my life), Billy and Dortha Jane Arnold, were married."

As a nod to their Natural State upbringings, Chris and Jonathan chose to use a coffee table book, "Calling the Wild: The History of Arkansas Duck Calls" by Mike Lewis, as their guest book.

In lieu of traditional wedding cake, Jonathan and Chris opted for monogrammed petit fours arranged on family silver service.

COLOR STORY:

THE INSPIRATION

Chris and Jonathan's wedding style was rooted in how they were raised. "Family and chosen family" became the theme for their day. That meant incorporating Arkansas and their heritage throughout the festivities.

"I learned how to host and what it meant to entertain from some of the finest, most particular and wildly interesting women you can find east of the Cache River," Chris says. "Women like my grandmother, mother, my Ta or Lulu have always flung their doors open as wide as their hearts and made sure each of their guests, family or friends, were welcomed, well-fed, sometimes overserved, and always loved. And that was our goal and theme for our day."

Chris and Jonathan searched for a space that felt just right and they found that in South on Main. Since the space doubles as a music venue, they chose T.K. and the Right Pieces to fill the space with brassy, funk sounds during their New Orleans-style brunch reception.

HOW THEY CUSTOMIZED

The couple worked with Tanarah Haynie of Tanarah Luxe Floral to create florals that were a reflection of their personalities, but steered clear of being "bridal" or "frilly." Tanarah also incorporated rice from Chris' family's farm into the arrangements. Jonathan chose bold black and white stripes and buffalo check from La Tavola Linen to keep the atmosphere fun, bright and not too serious.

Thinking back to his favorite moment of the day, Chris says it was when he was standing before his friends and family with Jonathan during the ceremony.

"We, these two guys who grew up in rural Arkansas only 60 miles apart (and a few years), who both have lived fruitful and independent lives, who both were seeking to build a life that resembled what each saw in our parents, were, for a moment, enclosed by the sheer force of love."

SAVVY SHIELDS & NATE WOLFE

THE WEDDING

July 28, 2018 / Bentonville
The Record

MISS AMERICA 2017 SAVVY SHIELDS met the love of her life at a wedding in May 2015. Nate Wolfe was a groomsman and Savvy remembers looking at her friend and asking, “Who is THAT?” At the time, Savvy was a junior at the University of Arkansas and Nate had just wrapped up his first year at Georgetown Law.

She recalls dancing and flipping her hair trying desperately to get his attention, but nothing seemed to be working. “Finally, I walked up to him and said, ‘Hey, I don’t think I’ve met you yet, I’m Savvy.’” The next day, the two went on a breakfast date and that’s when Savvy knew this was the real deal.

The ceremony aisle featured a custom white runner with a hand-painted “W” from The Original Runner Co.

The couple's cake was accented with gilded gold vines and a wafer-textured ombre base.

COLOR STORY:

THE INSPIRATION

Savvy wanted her ceremony to feel like a dream and the reception to feel like an elegant-affair-meets-house-party. She found her dream venue in The Record, an industrial event space in downtown Bentonville. As an artist herself, Savvy was drawn to the blank canvas that The Record's space provides.

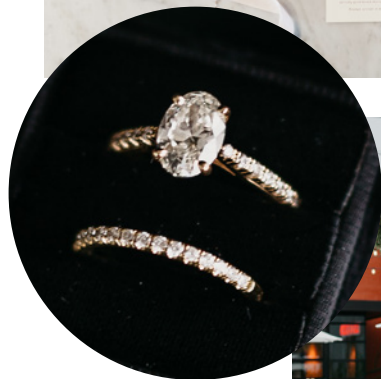

Savvy says picking out her dress was the moment when things became real for her. Since she wore just about every fit and style of gowns during her time as Miss America, she was worried she wouldn't be able to find a dress that made her feel like a true bride. When she found "the one" and the veil was placed on her head, "La Vie en Rose" started playing throughout the store. Savvy began the wedding ceremony with that same song since it was with her the day she found her dream dress.

HOW THEY CUSTOMIZED

Savvy and her team created a lush canopy of greenery and florals for their ceremony backdrop. The altar area featured a dimensional arch adorned with flowing ivory fabric and greenery. Down the aisle, floating candles and scattered ivory rose petals created a dreamlike garden space.

After the ceremony, guests were led through a hallway filled with four trees and hanging florals. The trees were decorated with ivory ribbons that held each guest's name and table assignment.

One of Savvy's favorite personal touches was their custom ice cream flavors from Pure Joy Ice Cream Shop. They had a "Nate Date" flavor with fresh mint and coffee, a vanilla with goat cheese and local honey called "World Peace" (a nod to Savvy's Miss America year) and a raspberry and white wine sorbet.

Savvy chose an invitation suite with black and gold embellishments that helped set the tone for their industrial/modern wedding day.

SAVVY SHIELDS & NATE WOLFE

THE REHEARSAL DINNER

July 27, 2018 / Springdale / Sassafra Springs Vineyard & Winery

SAVVY AND NATE'S REHEARSAL DINNER wasn't your run-of-the-mill affair. Savvy went with an old world, Italian vineyard theme complete with wine barrels, romantic candles, personalized wine bottles for each guest, abundant greenery and a massive cheese board.

Nate's sister made a slideshow of pictures that played throughout the night featuring photos of all the guests with the couple over the course of their relationship. After dinner, guests were treated to a dessert hour under the stars at the stone chapel while music from the greats like Frank Sinatra and Louis Armstrong wafted through the night. Before they left, guests were also given a personalized wine glass engraved with Savvy and Nate's wedding date and a heart-shaped wine stopper.

JESSICA WILLIAMS & ANDRÉ BERNARD

October 6, 2018 / Little Rock
Clinton Presidential Center

WE ALL KNOW location is crucial in the world of real estate, but for Jessica Williams and André Bernard, being in the right place at the right time was how their love story began. The two met at The Pointe at the Brodie Creek apartment complex pool. André lived there and Jessica was visiting a friend. They hit it off and their relationship blossomed from there.

In 2017, the couple took a trip to Dallas to help André's little sister move into her dorm at SMU. After they got her moved in, André and Jessica had special dinner reservations at her favorite steakhouse, Eddie V's. André strategically planned a late-night meal to be followed by a romantic midnight proposal on a very meaningful date to the couple, August 13.

Jessica's favorite fashion element was her "something blue" borrowed from her mom. Jessica wore a beautiful Cabochon-cut cloudy aquamarine ring by Robert Wander.

The couple's beautiful seven-tier ivory cake was wrapped in gold leaves and adorned with stunning white orchids.

COLOR STORY:

THE INSPIRATION

"Old world elegance meets new world charm" served as Jessica's inspiration for her big day. She had always dreamed of having her ceremony in a beautiful church, and First Presbyterian Church had just the feel she was looking for.

"In contrast to the ceremony, the reception was at the Clinton Library," Jessica says. "I chose this location because of its clean lines and neutral white palette. There, we had the flexibility to dream up all sorts of things. I liked having a mix of the old classic architecture with the new contemporary style."

After she decided on the theme and venues, she focused on fashion and florals. Jessica found her "Fierce" Rivini gown at Bella Bianca in Chicago. The modified flared crepe gown with an off-the-shoulder beaded bodice captured that Old Hollywood glam she was looking for.

HOW THEY CUSTOMIZED

Jessica's wedding planner Anne-Claire Allen totally transformed the Clinton Presidential Center into a show-stopping reception. The ballroom was drenched in white florals and romantic candlelight. The couple had a boxwood wall designed for a photo booth and added florals for flair. On the balcony, turf lined the concrete and lounge furniture offered guests a chance to relax.

Jessica's favorite moment of the day was a complete surprise. André serenaded his new bride to John Legend's "Stay With You." "I couldn't hold back my tears," she says. "It was the most beautiful song sung by my now-husband."

JESSICA MACK & ANDREAS PLACKIS

August 25, 2018 / Roland
Moss Mountain Farm

LITTLE ROCK NATIVE and star on the Country Music Television (CMT) docu-series “Music City,” Jessica Mack chased her music dreams to Nashville and there, she fell in love with the man of her dreams. Jessica and Andreas “Dre” Plackis first heard of one another from mutual friends, but they officially met in a small group Bible study at their church. The two hit it off, and after a whirlwind courtship that unfolded on camera, Dre popped the question after a fun scavenger hunt that took them to special places they’d been to over the course of their relationship.

“At the end of the hunt, we ended up at Centennial Park where I was to find the last clue,” Jessica says. “He ended up proposing to me under the biggest, most beautiful tree in the park and he even thought to hire a photographer to capture the moment! I was so surprised and overwhelmed with joy! We went on to celebrate with friends and family that evening, and it will forever be one of the best memories of my life.”

Inside the dinner tent, guests were treated to a classic sit-down Southern meal. A large head table centered the room and beautiful chandeliers provided the perfect romantic ambiance.

COLOR STORY:

THE INSPIRATION

The couple lives in Nashville, but Jessica knew she wanted to get married in The Natural State. Jessica's mom began scouting out venues for her, and after she met with James Sumpter at Moss Mountain Farm, she knew it was the venue. Between the beautiful gardens and the views overlooking the Arkansas River, it was the perfectly dreamy spot Jessica had always envisioned for her timeless Southern wedding.

Jessica can't point to a specific inspiration behind her big day, but she knew she wanted a wedding that was classic and wouldn't ever go out of style. The solution was a gorgeous late-summer wedding filled designed around a pretty pastel palette of soft pinks and buttery yellows. Florals from Silks A Bloom were a perfect complement to Moss Mountain's abundant gardens. Jessica's beautiful bouquet filled with blush and sunny yellow roses and hydrangeas weighed close to 10 pounds.

HOW THEY CUSTOMIZED

Jessica found her gorgeous wedding dress through her planner Anne-Claire Allen. Anne-Claire reached out to a bridal fashion designer she knew named Allison Webb. Jessica was completely smitten with Allison Webb's "Augusta" gown. When she found out it came in white, she was sold. It has that classic, soft and flowy look that fit the pastel garden theme so well.

Anne-Claire says her favorite part of the wedding was getting to know the bride and groom. "Jessica is truly one of the kindest and genuine people I have ever met, and Dre is the perfect complementing partner for her,” Anne-Claire says. “The [‘Music City’] filming aspect was exciting and unique, and our team really enjoyed the new experience and juggling the curve-balls that came with roughly 20 production crew members also on-site.”

The wedding was broken up into chapters so guests could experience all of Moss Mountain Farm’s beauty. As they arrived, guests meandered down to the rose garden, where the ceremony took place. After the ceremony, guests had time to explore, take photos and enjoy their surroundings.

The farm bell signaled dinner was ready and guests made their way to the dinner tent where florals and candlelight created a dreamscape as they were treated to a plated dinner of Southern classics. Following the cake cutting, everyone transitioned to the front lawn for dancing and a little bit of the bride’s personal music under the farm’s “Big Sister Oak” tree.

One of Jessica’s favorite memories involves her new husband and the reception dance floor. DJ Jellybean played “Can You Feel the Love Tonight” for the final dance, and at the end of the song, when the key change happened, all of Jessica and Dre’s friends and family danced in a circle around the couple as Dre lifted Jessica and spun her in the air. “Everyone was singing and celebrating in that moment together and you really could feel the love that night,” Jessica says.

The couple had an equally epic reception exit as they ran through a tunnel of sparklers to Katy Perry’s “Firework.” They piled into a burgundy Rolls Royce and rode away husband and wife.

After the cake cutting, everyone transitioned to the front lawn for dancing (and a little bit of the bride’s own music) under the property’s “Big Sister Oak” tree.

SUZIE GRESHAM & DRAKE BARHAM

November 3, 2018 / Hope
Hope Municipal Airport

SUZIE GRESHAM AND DRAKE BARHAM met in kindergarten, where they sat together side-by-side. In high school, the two began dating and they've been inseparable since. They both decided to attend Ouachita Baptist University where they survived four years of Suzie's crazy softball schedule, classwork and graduating with business degrees.

Drake decided to surprise Suzie with the proposal during a trip to one of their favorite spots — Park City, Utah. The two were there for what Suzie thought was a quick work trip, but Drake had something else in mind. They had plans to meet some friends and Suzie's parents for dinner at the Montage in Deer Valley, but as they parked, Drake directed her to the Ruby Express chairlift. Flower petals lined the path to a bench in front of beautiful aspen trees as snow quietly fell over the mountain.

"From it snowing in September to having a hidden photographer, to my parents getting to watch from a balcony to being in my favorite place with my favorite person getting down on one knee — it can only be described as perfect!"

Suzie's team completely transformed the airport hangar into a cozy setting with lounge areas and family-style dining tables.

COLOR STORY:

THE INSPIRATION

Suzie and Drake both travel extensively for work. They have an ongoing joke that they're either in an airplane or stuck in an airport all the time. Suzie's family also happens to have a plane they keep at the Hope Municipal Airport. Thanks to a wedding brainstorming meeting with her godmother, Suzie landed on a theme tailor-made for an airport — "The Sky's the Limit." The couple couldn't think of a better place than the airport Suzie had grown up flying in and out of to be the backdrop for the next chapter of their lives.

HOW THEY CUSTOMIZED

One of the most obvious customizations was Suzie's bridal fashion. Jumpsuits have always been a favorite of hers, so she worked with Laine Berry of Laine Berry Couture to create her dream 'fit. A few weeks later, Suzie's mom and Laine surprised her with a brand new wedding gown. The gown featured an exaggerated bateau neckline, a plunging v-back, long sleeves and a bodice decorated with hand-applied Swarovski crystals in the shape of poinsettia petals. Suzie decided to wear the gown for the ceremony and then change into the jumpsuit for a show-stopping — and easy to dance in — reception look.

Suzie has one word to describe her wedding cake — big. The giant cake had six tiers, with one being a hexagon shape with their crest imprinted in gold. Cascading florals flowed to the ground, puddling at the base of a hand-crafted stand made by Drake's grandfather.

The hangar doors of the 1940s airport opened after the ceremony to reveal a gold-and-white wrapped dance floor bearing the couple's monogram. Long banquet tables were adorned with soft lighting and chandeliers. Flowers and greenery made the industrial space feel intimate and inviting, and guests felt true Southern hospitality while savoring Suzie's grandfather's famous barbecue ribs.

The couple had a few different "rides" throughout the wedding day. On the way to the ceremony, Suzie and her dad rode together in a 1939 black Cadillac LaSalle. They spent time together chatting and sharing happy tears. At the end of the night, Drake and Suzie literally jetted off to their honeymoon in Hawaii. Thanks to their constant travel for work and play, the couple managed to score $11.50 first-class plane tickets to Hawaii.

"After all was said and done, and we got in the plane, we just sat there as our cups ran over and had so much joy and gratitude in our hearts as we had been surrounded by, loved on, and invested in by so many wonderful people," Suzie says. "We were in pure awe."

Instead of a cocktail hour, the couple served their guests hors d'oeuvres and custom crafted mocktails inside the hangar before dinner.

SARAH CONNLEY & BRANDON ALLEN

March 2, 2019 / Springdale
Sassafras Springs Vineyard & Winery

WITHOUT KNOWING IT, Sarah Connley and Brandon Allen both lived off of Rupple Street in Fayetteville during college. After being introduced by mutual friends at a concert, Brandon would ask Sarah to play with her dog Teddy just so he could see her. Sarah and Brandon bonded over their love of animals and regularly went on dates at the dog park.

Sarah and Brandon now live in Thousand Oaks, California, where he's a quarterback for the Los Angeles Rams. The two were visiting family during NFL off-season in Arkansas when Brandon asked Sarah if she wanted to go to Sassafras Springs Vineyard & Winery for a wine night with friends. When they arrived, Brandon walked her over to the stables, which he had decorated with flowers and pictures of the couple.

"My favorite thing about Sarah is that I can always be myself around her," Brandon says. "She is the only person I have ever wanted to hang out with every single day. We have fun doing nothing together and she will never say no to re-watching my favorite movies for the 100th time."

Sarah wore the pearl necklace and earrings that her mom wore at her wedding, which also served as her "something borrowed."

COLOR STORY:

THE INSPIRATION

One decision that was particularly easy was the venue. The winery is owned by Brandon's best friend Drew Gorton and his family. Sarah and Brandon knew from the moment the proposal was over that they'd have their big day at Sassafras.

Instead of a theme, Sarah planned around a specific color palette. Dusty blue and gold were her main points of inspiration, which were the perfect complement to Sassafras' rustic beauty. When it came to flowers, Sarah chose airy bouquets with neutral blooms and hints of blue. Her bouquet included cappuccino roses, quicksand roses, Playa Blanca roses, white peonies, white anemones and waterfall spirea.

HOW THEY CUSTOMIZED

Sarah and Brandon went with gold accents for the table settings and lots of floating candles for a romantic feel. The couple's main focal point was a huge wreath made of pampas grass and rose blooms made by Sarah's cousin, Brittney Holland.

The couple's four-tier cake featured a gold vine design made of sugar leaves floating up the side of the cake.

The couple's favorite wedding moment was when the DJ requested all of Brandon's former teammates and their spouses to come to the dance floor to call the Hogs together. "It ended up being about half the guests and the whole dance floor was covered with the largest humans you will ever see," Sarah says. "We all had so much fun reuniting post-college."

ELIZABETH GORMAN & CHRISTOPHER TOMPKINS

September 8, 2018 / St. Thomas Catholic Church, Fayetteville
The Ballroom at I Street, Bentonville

ELIZABETH GORMAN AND CHRISTOPHER TOMPKINS first met at Fayetteville High School in 2008. They struck up a quick friendship and were soon very close friends. A year later, Chris asked Elizabeth to be his girlfriend and they've been together ever since. Their love withstood the test of long distance while attending colleges more than 300 miles apart and while Elizabeth briefly lived abroad in Spain.

Chris proposed to Elizabeth in August 2017 on her family's annual vacation to Seaside, Florida. He lined the path to the beach with pictures of them throughout the years. At sunset, Elizabeth followed the path to find Chris kneeling in the sand. Her family cheered them on from the balcony of the beach house.

THE INSPIRATION

The two were married at St. Thomas Aquinas Catholic Church, which was the church they both started attending as a couple. When it came to the reception venue, Elizabeth wanted something very classic and traditional. Elizabeth fell in love with The Ballroom at I Street after she did a styled shoot at the venue a month before.

As far as a reception theme, the couple opted for a combination of Southern traditions, vintage touches and treasures collected during the couple's travels.

The couple's cocktail hour featured a champagne bar cart, custom cocktails and artisanal hors d'oeuvres.

COLOR STORY:

HOW THEY CUSTOMIZED

Elizabeth, her sisters and mom took a trip to New York City to pick out the bridesmaid dresses. They visited the Jenny Yoo flagship store and picked out two different dresses — one for Elizabeth's bridesmaids and one for her sisters/maids-of-honor. A custom floral hair piece was the finishing touch to the bridesmaids' looks.

After the ceremony, guests were invited to The Ballroom at I Street for a cocktail hour complete with a champagne bar cart, custom cocktails and artisanal hors d'oeuvres. Guests found their table numbers on a beautiful seating chart framed with greenery and white florals.

Elizabeth has collected blue and white Chinoiserie dishes for years, so she decided to feature those pieces along with her aunt's collection throughout the reception. The tables featured romantic candles, lots of greenery and a gorgeous circular installation with floating greenery inside. For the couple's ninth and final dating anniversary, Chris gifted Elizabeth with a custom neon sign that they featured at the reception.

The couple's classic five-tier cake featured delicately painted florals and their laurel wreath monogram. For the "groom's cake," Chris served pies from Gooseberry Handmade Pies in Bentonville — a spot the couple has frequented since it opened. Chris had been looking forward to his pie tasting for years. "One of the toughest parts of our wedding planning process was getting Chris to narrow down which pie varieties he wanted because he loved each one he tasted," Elizabeth says.

ASHTON PURTLE & DREW SMITH

June 2, 2018 / Atkins
Meadow on the Mountain

RUSSELLVILLE NATIVES Ashton Purtle and Drew Smith met way back in elementary school when Ashton dated Drew's best friend and vice versa. The two began dating during their senior year of high school. In a high school tale as old as time, he was a football player and Ashton was a cheerleader.

Drew and Ashton decided to tag along with Drew's family during a trip to San Francisco. At a scenic spot overlooking the Golden Gate Bridge, Drew asked Ashton to take a photo. The San Francisco fog rolled in just as they were about to take the photo, and Drew confessed his real reason for bringing her there. After the proposal, the two spent the rest of the day in Napa Valley sipping wine and celebrating their future.

The couple had a program booklet made of handmade peach paper and thermography copper ink. Inside, Ashton and Drew shared a "timeline of their love" with important dates and events throughout their courtship.

COLOR STORY:

THE INSPIRATION

Ashton worked with Jessica Zimmerman to create her gorgeous color palette of cream, mauve, plum and rust. Ashton and Drew were married underneath a towering wooden archway overflowing with greenery and florals.

The reception took place inside the two-story modern wood barn. Ashton wanted the focal point of the reception to be their almost 7-foot tall pale pink wedding cake from PattiCakes Bakery that required caterers to climb onto a ladder to cut.

The guest tables were covered in oatmeal-colored velvet linens and a variety of tall and short arrangements. The 24-foot-long head table was placed beneath the staircase and lit with hanging globe lights and cafe au lait taper candles.

HOW THEY CUSTOMIZED

Ashton's showstopper of a wedding dress was the result of a longstanding friendship with Arkansas designer Laine Berry. Her bespoke gown was accented with Spanish lace and hand-placed Swarovski stones and beads — all of which made for a “wow” moment when Ashton walked down the aisle.

The most memorable part of the day for Ashton was the moments leading up to her walk down the aisle. When the wedding day arrived, so did the rain clouds. Ashton decided to wait out the rain for the outdoor ceremony, which ended up being the best decision. The rain stopped right after 6 o'clock and lightning lit up the sky behind the couple during their vows. Ashton remembers raindrops began again as they walked back down the aisle as husband and wife while the string quartet played “Time of My Life.”

KERRI BOLING & ZACHARY McGEE

August 25, 2018 / Fayetteville / Inn at Carnall Hall & The Big Red Barn

INN AT CARNALL HALL was where Kerri Boling and Zach McGee had their first date after a Razorback football game. The Inn proved to be the perfect fit for Kerri's Southern classic wedding theme. To complement the Inn's lovely exterior, Kerri's team created ivory drapes that framed the entryway with gorgeous floral "tie-backs."

After the ceremony, the couple had Trey O'Dell from season 10 of "The Voice" serenade guests as they sipped cocktails and played yard games. The cherry on top of all this fabulous Southern hospitality was the late-night ice cream treats from Burton's Creamery.

ABBY McCOY & BRADLEY DURANT

May 18, 2018 / Rogers / Hark & Herald Co.

SPONTANEITY is one of Bradley Durant's defining traits, and it was his spontaneity that guided him to the girl of his dreams. While driving to see family in Fayetteville, Bradley suddenly made a change of plans and turned his car around—there was a girl he needed to meet. Bradley had heard a lot about Abby, and so, he trusted his instincts and raced off to meet his future wife in Eureka Springs. For the next five months, the couple took turns visiting one another until Abby got a job in Tulsa and the couple moved to Oklahoma together.

Abby and Bradley decided to keep their wedding small and intimate. Jessica Kersey with ELOPE by JLK Weddings helped them pull off an elopement at Hark & Herald Co. in downtown Rogers. The couple's style was minimalist and organic, with pops of purple.

ESTHER UDOUJ & KILE GRAVES

November 3, 2018 / Conway / Legacy Acres

ESTHER UDOUJ AND KILE GRAVES officially met on a blind double date, but for Kile, it all started during a college function weeks before at the University of Arkansas. Kile says he'll never forget the first time he saw her in "that hot pink dress."

Kile's proposal took Esther by surprise — so much so that she didn't even know to dress up. The two went to MarketPlace Grill for dinner on what she thought was a typical Friday night. As they left the restaurant, Kile's dad called and asked a favor that would require them to go check on the depth reader on their new boat. Kile proposed to Esther on the boat just as the sun was setting and, amidst tears, she said yes.

ABIGAIL BAZE & ALEX RANDALL

September 15, 2018 / Little Rock / Goodwin Manor

ABIGAIL BAZE AND ALEX RANDALL'S epic proposal included a music festival, a giant rainbow parachute and the help of 50-plus kind strangers. The couple attended Bonnaroo Music & Arts Festival in Tennessee in 2017. During a particularly hot and sweaty afternoon, Alex told Abigail he wanted to go to a meet-up for Roochute, a mental health awareness organization that spreads joy and connects strangers at festivals with giant parachutes — the kind you played with in elementary P.E. class.

One of the Roochute employees asked Abigail to take a photo of the group on her phone. The man instructed the crowd to yell "Say yes" on the countdown for the photo. Abigail said yes with the support and cheers of strangers as their background noise.

10 Things To Do

IMMEDIATELY AFTER GETTING ENGAGED

BY LYDIA McALLISTER

After six years of dating, Hayden Lessenberry popped the question to Brooke McGinness during a stroll through Crystal Bridge's outdoor exhibits.

You're going to spend forever with your favorite person — congrats! But now what?

Welcome to the wild world of wedding planning! It may seem daunting, but we've come up with 10 things you can do right off the bat to help ease the stress and streamline the process.

1 CELEBRATE!

There are a million to-do lists waiting to be written, decisions to be made and countless other pressing items in your wedding planning agenda, but first, take time to celebrate this epic milestone. You're engaged! Soak it in! Take time to announce your engagement to your closest friends and family members before the real work begins.

2 POST A RING SELFIE

After telling your loved ones, it's time to announce your engagement to the world! Whether you choose to do a ring shot on your Instagram or post a photo of the two of you on your Facebook page for all your parent's friends to comment on, this is your chance to shout your engagement from the rooftops, metaphorically speaking.

MIGHT WE SUGGEST...

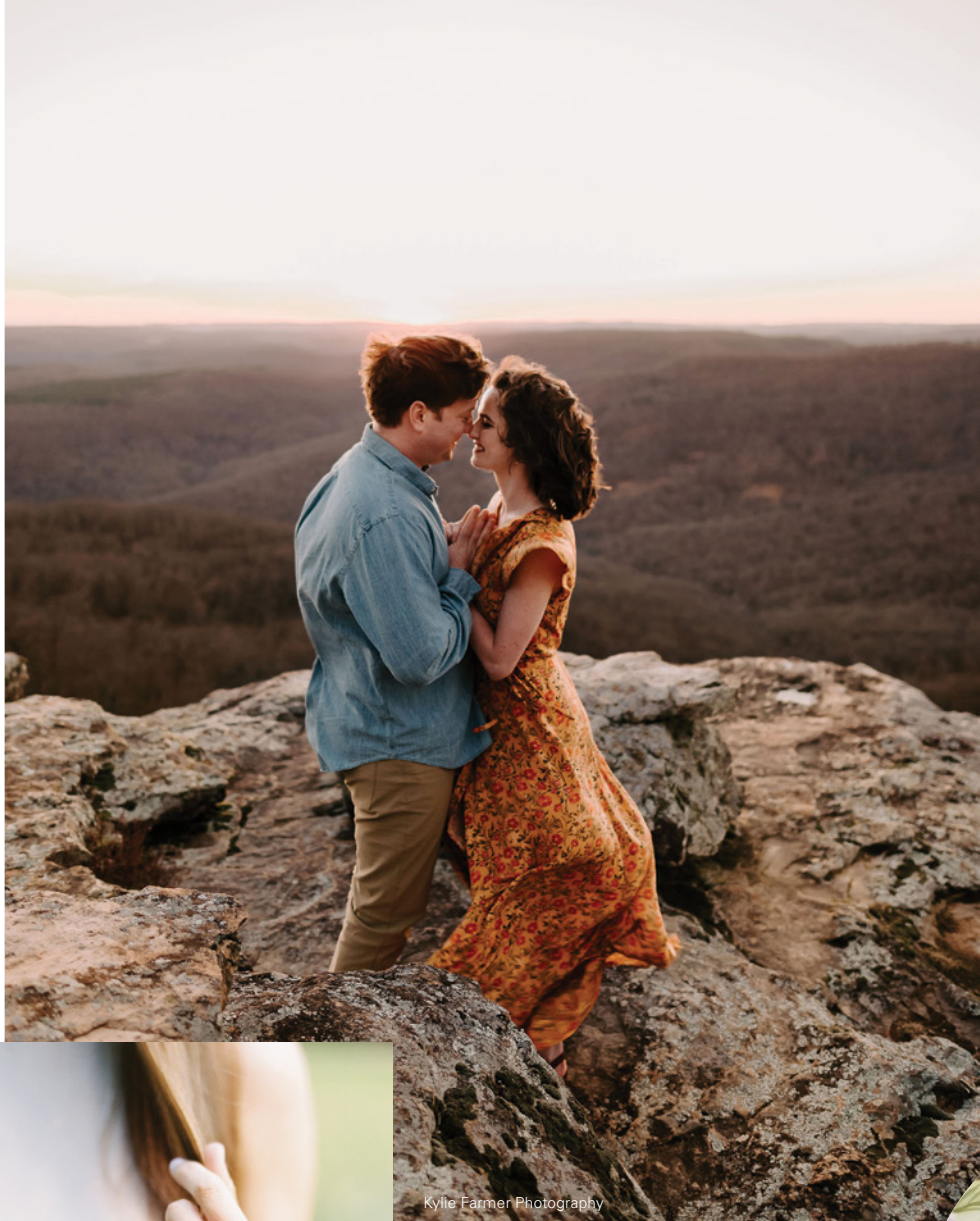

Getting a manicure.

Trust us, you don't want chipped nail polish to be what people notice.

Cleaning your bling.

There are plenty of ring-cleaning tools to invest in. Whether you go with the Bling Brush or your run-of-the-mill jewelry cleaner, you'll be using it throughout your engagement and beyond.

Cameron Spencer Photography

Kylie Farmer Photography

Kendall Sikes and Brandon Vick will say their I dos along the Buffalo River on October 26, 2019.

3 GET YOUR RING INSURED

This is a biggie. Make sure your fiancé kept the receipts for your ring and then take it to get appraised by a certified gemologist. After you do that, you can choose to purchase a "rider" on your home or renter's insurance, which is essentially an extension on your existing policy for a specific item. But make sure you read the fine print on your "ring rider." A good policy will cover everything from a stolen ring to accidentally flushing it down the toilet. (It's been known to happen, y'all.)

Erin Wilson Photography and Films

Melissa Levy and Michael Barré tied the knot at Cold Springs on December 1, 2018.

◀ Kelley Brown and Ty Reasnor will be married on Saturday, September 21, 2019 at Hillbrook Farms.

CHOOSE YOUR SQUAD

Take some time to really consider who you want standing beside you on your big day. Also, be mindful of what's going on in their lives during the months leading up to the wedding. If one of your best friends will be eight months pregnant at your outdoor July wedding, maybe think of another way to include them.

NO MATTER WHO YOU CHOOSE, HERE ARE A FEW CUTE WAYS TO ASK THEM:

Riffraff

↑ Bridal tees — Riffraff has a selection of cheeky bridal tees that are perfectly suited to any personality.

Goodie box filled with a few of their favorite things — This thoughtful gesture can be customized to each 'maid's interests.

← Custom cookies — Flip to page 121 for bakeries that can whip up tasty treats for your bridesmaids.

@tesori_bridal

A bridesmaid emergency kit — This is sure to come in handy on your wedding day.

→ Customized jewelry — This gift is really a twofer. Pick out something that your 'maids can wear on the day of the wedding and forever after.

DISCUSS BUDGET & WEDDING SIZE

Money talk isn't the most fun wedding planning convo you'll have, but it's the most important. Talk with whoever is helping you foot the bill to map out how much you have to spend and how big you want your wedding to be. After you figure out those two items, you and your fiancé should start working on your guest list.

Make the process easier by both writing down your close family members, then your closest friends and then other people you'd love to see on the big day. After you narrow them down into those three categories, it's easier to see where you can cut down on the final headcount. Two more ways to whittle down the guest list: Skip the plus-ones for people who aren't engaged or make it an adult-only affair.

RESEARCH VENUES

Arkansas is blessed with an abundance of beautiful wedding venues. From rustic barns on sprawling acreage to modern, industrial venues in the heart of the capital city, our state has it all. Flip to Page 133 to get a jumpstart on your venue research, then schedule appointments to tour the spaces that strike your fancy. Once you've chosen your venue, then you should set your date (not before!).

PLAN A GOWN SHOPPING TRIP

Once you lock down your venue, schedule a day to try on dresses. Be sure to make appointments ahead of time and try to have an idea of what kind of gowns you're interested in to make the day go smoother.

DRESS BUYING GUIDE

Is there a dress designer that you particularly love? Look around to see if they are holding any upcoming trunk shows near you. Trunk shows offer the latest from designers, often at a small discount. And sample sales are a great way to save a lot of money on absolutely gorgeous gowns. Stay glued to our Insta and the ArkansasBride.com/Calendar for sales and trunk show dates!

9 BUILD A WEDDING WEBSITE

To help ward off all the questions you're sure to get about the details of your big day, go ahead and put all of that info on your wedding website. Website builders like The Knot, Zola and Minted make it easy (and free!) to create a templated wedding website. You can make them as simple or as complex as you want!

THINGS YOU'LL WANT TO INCLUDE:

- Where you're registered
- The wedding day agenda (in case guests need to travel from one venue to another, if you're providing bus transportation from the hotels to the venue, etc.)
- Dress code info
- RSVPs — if you want to! If you want to only worry about getting back your physical RSVPs, that's fine, too.

10

RELAX!

The planning process isn't easy and you deserve time to de-stress.

Remember the reason for the season. Take a page from Kim Lane and Aaron Duvall and take a pre-wedding moon! The couple traveled to Arizona to visit the Grand Canyon and the red rocks of Sedona a few months before the wedding. "I definitely recommend that to couples who are engaged," Kim, says. "A little adventure getaway before the big day!" ❁

PHOTOGRAPHERS

ACCORDING TO OUR MOST RECENT POLL,
THE NO. 1 “MOST WORTH-IT” SPLURGE
MADE BY ARKANSAS BRIDES WAS HIRING
A GREAT PHOTOGRAPHER.

In the same poll, other brides shared how they wish they hadn't skimped on photography. Take it from these experienced brides: Hiring a talented and reputable wedding photographer is one of the most important things you'll do.

THE FOLLOWING PROS ARE WISE
OPTIONS TO CONSIDER!

AMBER NOLEN - 25 MOCKINGBIRD PHOTOGRAPHY

My team and I love crazy in love couples, wedding cake and life-size prints of huge smiles from the best day ever. No two people are the same in my lens. 25 Mockingbird Photography is here to share the most amazing day with you and your loved ones!

LAST LOOK

Lasting Impression

We received dozens of beautiful submissions for our “Your Love Captured” contest, but Katelyn Sims and Layne LaBudde’s engagement photos at Marlsgate Plantation took the cake. After five years of dating, Layne pulled off a surprise proposal at the Gaylord Opryland Resort in Nashville. When she walked downstairs for breakfast, Katelyn saw her mother holding flowers and Layne’s mother holding a box as Layne got down on one knee.

PHOTOGRAPHY BY

Layne thought of absolutely every detail for the engagement and made it very thoughtful. He even made sure my nails were done for the occasion.
