2020 VISION

Two themes repeat in the Summer 2019 edition of FIRST LOOK: "personal style" and "easy sophistication." These moods appear in all FIRST LOOK touch points this season — product displays; a CEU seminar on Monday, July 29, at 10 a.m.; and showroom tours (see sidebar box) — and they will resonate in the decade ahead. In fact, we're so confident in the staying power of personal expression and sophistication, we've titled this issue "2020 Vision."

The Maximalist interior in the Building A lobby, for instance, nods to personal style and home curation ... it's an urban-inspired space for an imagined city dweller. Featured product categories include artful furniture and decorative accessories, statement-making lighting and barware.

Color drenching, a technique that experiments with tint and shade, is illustrated in the Building C, 4th Floor, display. We use teal as a starting point for this sophisticated, yet youthful, approach to color and home decorating. Also in this display: stationery, holiday and wall decor.

Find a menswear-inspired vignette in the FIRST LOOK display at WorldView on Sixteen ... think business casual meets cool neutrals and playful novelties. Nearby, the "Fringe Elements" presentation is casual elegance at its best — here, the story is texture and tactility. An outdoor sitting area, complete with greenhouse, rounds out the display.

Lastly, FIRST LOOK'S future-focused color palette is the backdrop for the Pavilions 1 display. Artisan-made personal accessories, modern home accents, jewelry for her, and gifts for baby are category highlights.

Make FIRST LOOK your first stop for future-focused sourcing at Las Vegas Market ... welcome and enjoy!
