Mother's Day: What chefs, cookbook authors want to eat

By Jessica Yadegaran

Bay Area News Group

As a busy San Francisco chef, restaurateur and mother of two, Sarah Rich doesn't quite enjoy Mother's Day celebrations as the long, drawn-out Sunday affairs that have come to define the holiday.

But they're still special. One year, her husband and Rich Table co-owner, Evan, placed a lovingly-made mimosa by her bedside at 7:30 a.m. before heading to their Michelin-starred restaurant.

Last year, he ordered Sarah's favorite dim sum for breakfast. Nico, 7, plucked wildflowers from the yard, and Van, 10, topped a Lego Minifigure lady with a chef hat. They piled everything on a tray and carried it into the bedroom.

To her, it was perfection. "I just really love the tradition of breakfast in bed," Sarah says. "Hearing them in the kitchen putting everything together, bringing my coffee with just the right amount of milk, giving me a break in the morning."

Whether it's dim sum for breakfast or a kid-made PB&J for lunch, cooking for and serving mom is the ultimate "I love you." When asked, even moms who cook for a living will tell you what they want, and they'll even provide the recipes: Brunch-centric Sweet Potato Pancakes with Dried Apricot Salsa Verde and Sprouted Broccoli from the Riches' California-esque cookbook, "Rich Table," for example. Or Beer-Battered Belgian Waffles with Summer Jams or a Quiche with Swiss Chard and Leeks from Santa Barbara Eat Drink Garden blogger and master gardener Valerie Rice.

Whatever you cook, the point is showing moms that we get them — with something as simple as coffee with the perfect amount of milk — and giving them a day off.

For Rice, who grew up gardening and harvesting fruits and vegetables with her grandmother in Born, Belgium, those jam-topped waffles are particularly special.

"My girls know I like sweet things, like the waffles, but would probably never order them," says Rice, whose daughters are 17 and 15. "In a perfect world, they would bring me a cocktail, too, right?"

Speaking of which, grown kids could easily whip up a Campari & Tangerine from Rice's new cookbook, "Lush Life: Food & Drinks from the Garden" (Prospect Park Books, $35). The cookbook, her first, is organized by season and includes gardening tips in addition to brunch-centric recipes like that showstopping quiche or Spring Pea Soup with Dill Labneh. There are also wine suggestions from award-winning sommelier and winemaker Rajat Parr, a frequent guest at Rice's table.

The dramatic, high-sided quiche, which includes gruyere and goat cheese, uses a traditional pâte brisée crust that comes together quickly with a few buzzes in the food processor, and holds its shape well. The waffle recipe, which calls for pilsner and jam toppers, doesn't require proofing, making it doable for the younger set.

"No matter what you cook, I think at the root of it all is moms being able to say, "These people that I know also know me," Rice says. "And to feel showered with love."

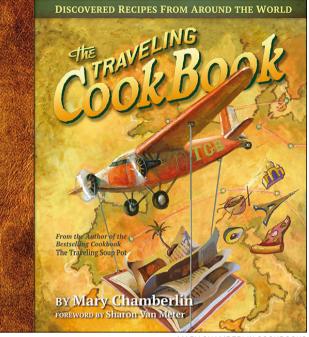

Mary Chamberlin's six kids will certainly shower her with food and love. When they gather on Mother's Day, they'll be preparing a four-course Mediterranean meal for the Carmel cooking instructor and retired chef, starting with a Sicilian Caprese Salad and ending with a classic Italian dessert, Cassata Siciliana. Yes, the recipes are Mom's.

"This is what they have to make for me," Chamberlin says, laughing. "My son, Marshall, doesn't even live here but he'll ll be making the Parma iI Pollo in Kansas City in my honor."

They're deeply meaningful recipes, too, culled from Chamberlin's decades in the food industry, both as owner-caterer of Fremont's popular Mission Deli, which she ran for 17 years until selling it in 1990, and as a cookbook author..

All the recipes can be found in Chamberlin's new cookbook, "The Traveling Cookbook: Discovered Recipes from Around the World" (Mary Chamberlin Cookbooks, $45), which provides a tapestry of flavors from across the Mediterranean and beyond. The cookbook is spiral-bound and opens flat for easy viewing.

"Each chapter is almost like a travel log," says Chamberlin, who has been teaching free monthly cooking classes in an unusual way — via phone-in conference call, not Zoom video — since the pandemic. Email marychamberlin01@gmail.com to join. "I have such a love of sharing recipes."

On Mother's Day, her son, Wic Coleman, who, like Mom, attended culinary school, will be making Chamberlin's own Greek Lemon Chicken, a classic taverna dish Chamberlin ate often while living in Greece in the 1980s. But she didn't obtain a recipe for it until returning to the United States.

"I could not find the perfect recipe until I met Olga, a waitress at Papagus restaurant in Chicago," Chamberlin says. "She said, 'If I give you my family recipe, you cannot change a thing.' And I didn't because it's perfect. We gather around the pot and dig into the oregano and lemon flavors."

Chamberlin's daughter, Deborah Carpenter, who worked with her at Mission Deli, will make the Cassata Siciliana. But instead of the traditional round sponge cake moistened with liqueurs then layered with ricotta cheese and candied fruit, she'll use her mother's ring-mold adaptation, which calls for lots of ice cream, whipped cream, pound cake or ladyfingers, and sherry or brandy.

"At Mission Deli, I used to make it for catering fancy parties and it's so much work." Chamberlin recalls. "This is much easier, and it's topped with chocolate sauce."

And if easy is what you're really after, heed Chamberlin's other bit of advice when first asked what she and perhaps other moms may ultimately want to do for Mother's Day.

"Take me to a restaurant," she blurted out. "Get me out of the kitchen."

Directorial debut for David Oyelowo

Inspired by 'E.T.' and 'Goonies.' the actor directs 'The Water Man'

By Peter Larsen

Southern California News Group

Long before David Oyelowo ever thought about becoming an actor, he savs certain kinds of movies captivated his boyhood imagination, films that told stories of kids like him that mixed grand adventures with grounded reality.

"Films like 'E.T.'. 'The Goonies,' 'Stand By Me,' are the films I loved growing up," Oyelowo says. "And really were formative for me in terms of the narrative that I felt reflected my experience as a young person."

Years later, as a father, the versatile British-Nigerian actor best known for his portraval of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. in "Selma," says he looked for similar movies to share with his four kids and realized that the kind of movies he'd loved in the '80s weren't getting made much anymore.

Then, in 2015, Oyelowo discovered screenwriter Emma Needell's script for "The Water Man" when it landed on The Black List, the annual ranking of the year's best-unproduced screenplays.

"It was something I became very passionate about, but at that point, it was purely as a producer and as an actor," says Oyelowo, who'd never directed before.

Then as 2018 rolled into 2019, "The Water Man" was

"This Is Us" as its young "The same thing with 'The hero, but the project lost Goonies,' they're dealing its director.

'You know, anyone who knows how difficult it is to make a film will tell you that if you have a start date, the money, a star - you find a way to go," Oyelowo says. "And Emma Needell turned to me and said. 'David, I think you're the one to actually direct this.'

surprising and unexpected path towards directing, but that's how I came to be in the director's chair."

Kids and grown-ups

"The Water Man," which opens on Friday tells the story of Gunner (Lonnie Chavis), who moves to a remote town in Oregon with his father Amos (David Ovelowo) and mother Mary (Rosario Dawson).

Mary is gravely ill with leukemia, and after Gunner learns of a legendary backwoods entity known as the Water Man, who is said to have the secret of immortality, Gunner sets off into the deep forest with Jo (Amiah Miller), a troubled teen who claims to know how to find the Water Man.

The story fits neatly into the genre that Ovelowo long had loved.

"I think it was the fact that I didn't feel talked down to." he says. "I didn't feel patronized in the way other so-called family films would do. Sometimes I think there is a real willful misunderstanding of just how emotionally sophisticated young people can be and are.

"So when you look at a film like 'E.T.', which starts out with a family dealing with a father and husband who has absconded, thematically that film starts in set to film that summer a very real place before gowith Lonnie Chavis, best ing into the adventure and capturing Chavis in that in the film, and several of with the impending loss of their community. In 'Stand By Me,' they're going off to find this dead body.

"These are very intense themes and situations that young people are placed in the center of, and as I say, when I was a kid. I really appreciated feeling like I was being treated as a "And so it was sort of a three-dimensional complex being."

> Finding Chavis, who was 11 at the time, to play Gunner was "definitely a needle in a havstack find," savs Ovelowo, who, though not vet the director when the voung actor auditioned. was part of the process as a producer.

"He was by far the most ranted when Chavis, now compelling of the candidates we met, and he also iust has that 'It' factor, that think you can't teach."

Capturing a moment

The chance to make "The Water Man" with Chavis as its star was a big part of Oyelowo's decision to make his directorial debut.

"We had captured, so to speak, a talent that wouldn't be at this stage for long, you know," he says. "Wouldn't be in this part of his life for long. And to even wait a year to find another director would have been for us to really have to accept that Lonnie might age out of the role.

"Because you're really looking for someone who is intelligent enough to be able to understand the nature of what is going on with his mom, but just about naive and wideeyed enough to believe in the myth of the Water Man enough to risk life and limb in order to find him in the Like his director, whom the boy in him still refers to as "Mr. David," Chavis says he was drawn to the for his mother.

"I realized that this is something I can relate to," he says. "I mean, I would do anything for somebody that I love, You would, too.

"This movie is all about love," Chavis says. "Gunner goes so far for the woman that he loves. I mean, he crosses over a log, over rushing water, and he cannot swim at all. He gets chased by horses. And he just keeps pushing, just for the love he has for his mom."

"It was actually really easy because Mr. David really set a whole tone on the set," Chavis says. "He just put love and magic into the set and just kept me in that one mind space of why Gunner was doing this. And behind the scenes, me and Miss Rosario had great chemistry together. It was actual love there.'

more about achieving your vision."

He was drawn to the Pacific Northwest with its natural beauty that "didn't have to rely on visual effects to make it feel magical." Ovelowo savs.

"I mean, that color, the translucent color of that moss on some of the trees, and how it interacts with both rock and old, old trees," he says. "It was something that was hard to find elsewhere, if I'm totally honest.

VIDEO GAME REVIEW

Returnal' is a sci-fi horror game that somehow works

By Gieson Cacho

Bay Area News Group

Difficult games always have a breaking point. It's the moment when players have to decide if it's their execution that's holding them back, or their tactics. It's the idea of doing the same thing over and over again, hoping for a better result or changing the approach altogether. The key to success is figuring out what the situation requires.

In "Returnal," players face that decision constantly in Housemarque's genre-bending project.
The developers behind "Alienation" and "Resogun" take their expertise in bullet hell shmups and apply it to a third-person rogue-lite for a unique but challenging experience.

It all begins rather suddenly as Astra space scout Selene Vassos crash lands on the planet Atropos after being drawn in by a mysterious signal. Upon awakening, she finds herself amid an ancient alien civilization that has crumbled and her only way off the planet is to investigate the broadcast that drew her in.

Returning eternally

That's where "Returnal" starts but where it ends up is messy. You see, Selene eventually dies while exploring the ruins and she finds herself in a "Groundhog Day" situation. Upon death, she wakes up around her ship and does the same exploration again. That's how

"Returnal" combines the bullet hell shmups that Housemarque is known for with a new third-person roguelite elements.

Housemarque writes the rogue-lite element naturally into the gameplay.

Each run-through, players start at the ship, Helios, and they have to venture through a procedurally generated world. It starts in a rainy forest and moves through five other biomes.

The developers essentially made several room pieces and the game puts them together with different creatures and powerups each time. That makes each playthrough one of a kind, and it also means that players can't rely on rote memorization to go through the campaign.

Instead, players will have to rely on strategy and skill to advance. That means learning how to adapt to the environment and knowing how to use trees and pillars for cover while dodging fire from the fauna, flora and sentients that inhabit Atropos. Players will have to learn their attack patterns and figure out the best ways to defeat them. Housemarque takes advantage of the PS5's sound and haptics to increase the immersion and improve combat awareness. Players must maximize every advantage they have because once a player dies, they have to start from square one.

Discovering depth

It's brutal at first, but as players master the basics, they'll discover a game with incredible depth. Every decision they make is important. Early on, they should bypass treasure chests and secret rooms until they level up their weapon proficiency, which increases the strength of weapons they find. When collecting spoiled resin or malignant power-ups, they have to determine whether they have the health or skill to survive bad side effects, such as a malfunction. When coming across a parasite, they have to decide if its stat boost is worth the drawback.

Like learning how to read the rooms, players will find that experience is the best teacher when it comes to choosing what power-ups to pick up. One parasite may be a poor choice during one run-though, another may factor in a follow-up run could make it beneficial. If players are low on health, it's best to lay off a spoiled resin, which could kill them.

Thankfully, as players progress through "Returnal," they'll reach a point where they don't always have to start at zero. They'll find permanent items such as ether that stay with players even after death. They'll also discover a sword, a grappling hook and other tools that open up the world of Atropos for more exploration and improve the odds of survival. Players will also reach certain unlock points that offer a shortcut through a playthrough.

That doesn't mean players should run to a boss directly. Each playthrough is time-consuming as players gather artifacts that offer boosts and use obolites, the in-game currency, to purchase upgrades and life-preserving consumables. In a lot of ways it feels like a bullet hell "Spelunky" that focuses on the purity of exploration and combat.

UC DAVIS

Manetti Shrem museum will reopen on June 3

By Laura Compton

UC Davis

The Jan Shrem and Maria Manetti Shrem Museum of Art, at the UC Davis, will reopen to the public with advance timed tickets beginning June 3.

"We are so proud to reopen with a diverse roster of exhibitions that explore the future of UC Davis' important history. 'Wayne Thie-Generation,' assembled on occasion of the artist's 100th birthday, celebrates Thiebaud's achievement through the living legacies of the countless artists who acknowledge his influence." stated Founding Director Rachel Teagle. "Exhibiting Arnold Joseph Kemp's exploration of self-making alongside painting inspired by Thiebaud makes for a timely and meaningful museum experience as we emerge from the pandemic."

Gallery capacity will be limited, allowing guests ample time and space during their chosen time slot to experience four new exhibitions. Visitors may choose to enhance their experience through the museum's new exhibit website. Accessi-

Roger Hazard and Tanya Memme in "Sell This House"

SELL THIS HOUSE! A&E 10:00 a.m.

In this new episode hosted by Tanya Memme, viewers get the inside scoop on life in Bristol, a small town on the banks of the Delaware River, where, despite the booming real estate market, Melissa has had her home on the market for more than 60 days.

GAME NIGHT THE 1:00 p.m.

This critically acclaimed action-comedy stars Jason Bateman and Rachel McAdams as Max and Annie, a couple who join their friends for a regular game night.
However, when one of their group goes missing, it becomes impossible to tell reality from the game.

2 GUNS

амс 8:00 р.т.

Denzel Washington and Mark Wahlberg star in this action flick about two men who find themselves caught in a crazy corruption scheme. After a bank robbery, the two are hunted and blackmailed by both the justice seekers and those fleeing prosecution.

Best Bets

Nathan Fillion stars in "The Rookie"

CAPTAIN AMERICA: THE WINTER SOLDIER FX 7:00 p.m.

Chris Evans reprises his role as super-powered soldier Captain America in this superhero flick. He teams up with Black Widow (Scarlett Johansson) and Falcon (Anthony Mackie) to unravel a conspiracy with global ramifications involving his former friend.

THE ROOKIE

10:00 p.m.

Don't miss another actionpacked new episode of this hit procedural starring Nathan Fillion as John Nolan, a small-town guy and the LAPD's oldest rookie. After a life-changing tragedy, Nolan decides to pursue a career in law enforcement in his 40s.

MEDITERRANEAN LIFE нсту 11:00 р.т.

Follow potential homeowners as they hunt for homes along the Mediterranean Sea in a new episode. A couple that's always dreamed of living abroad is following through and moving to the idyllic south of France, learning what they want and need as they go.

'Station Eleven': Deborah Cox joins HBO Max's post-apocalyptic series

By Michelle Rose

TVMedia

'STATION ELEVEN'» After inspiring last fall's #DeborahCoxChallenge on social media, Canadian R&B artist/actor Deborah Cox ("The First Wives Club") is set to release a seventh studio album this year. But that's not her only project in 2021. Cox has also landed a recurring role in a new post-apocalyptic series from HBO Max.

"Station Eleven" is based on Emily St. John Mandel's (also a Canadian) 2014 bestselling novel, which has now been adapted into a 10-episode drama. Like the novel, the series spans multiple timelines and tells the stories of those who survived a devastating flu as they attempt to rebuild and reimagine the world anew while holding on to the best of what's been lost. Cox will play the role of Wendy, a musician "looking for more" as part of The Traveling Symphony, a band of Shakepeare performers who survived the Georgia flu. It's a fitting role for the Grammy-nominated performer, who first came to prominence in the 1990s with singles such as "Sentimental," "Who Do U Love" and her biggest hit, "Nobody's Supposed to Be Here." Since then, Cox has played the lead role in a touring musical adaptation of the 1992 film "The Bodyguard." She also starred in the 2020 BET+ movie "Influence," and most recently in Lifetime's "V.C. Andrews' Ruby" (2021).

With "Station Eleven," Cox joins a cast led by Mackenzie Davis ("Halt and Catch Fire") and Himesh Patel play the two main characters. Other recurring cast

Lawrence recently starred in Netflix's "Jingle Jangle: A Christmas Journey" (2020) and voiced Felipe the Scarlet Macaw in "Rio 2" (2014), but he is best known for his Grammy-winning work as a songwriter and record producer. He had a hand in such hits as Mark Ronson's "Uptown Funk," CeeLo Green's "F*You" and FloRida's "Right 'Round." He's

Best Bets

Missy Peregrym stars in "FBI"

DELICIOUS MISS BROWN FOOD 8:00 a.m.

Join Kardea Brown as she shares more down-home southern eats in this rebroadcast mini-marathon. First up, joined by her mom and her grandma - who's watching what she eats -Kardea focuses on making lighter versions of delicious southern classics.

RIZZOLI & ISLES

LIFE 6:00 p.m.

Boston detective Jane Rizzoli once again teams up with medical examiner Maura Isles in this evening marathon. Although complete opposites, the women are best friends who use their unique skills to solve cases that leave others baffled.

FBI

13 KOVR 8:00 p.m.

The FBI team is back in a new episode. Special Agent Maggie Bell (Missy Peregrym) and her partner, Special Agent Omar "O.A." Zidan (Zeeko Zaki), work together to keep New York City - and the rest of the country - safe in this hit procedural drama.

Wayne Brady hosts "Game of Talents"

THE LEGEND OF TARZAN тит 3:00 р.т.

Tarzan (Alexander Skarsgård) has left the jungle and is now living happily in London with his wife, Jane (Margot Robbie). When he is recruited to serve as a trade emissary in the Congo, Tarzan learns that he is merely a pawn in a deadly game.

GONE IN 60 SECONDS амс 8:00 p.m.

A retired car thief is pressured into returning to the business when his little brother lands in hot water with a crime boss. He assembles a team to try stealing fifty cars in a single night while a rival group attempts to do the same. Nicolas Cage stars.

GAME OF TALENTS

2 KTVU 40 KTXL 9:00 p.m.

Tune in to catch an episode of this new hybrid game and talent show's first season. Hosted by Wayne Brady, contestants must attempt to guess which over-the-top or downright bizarre hidden talent a slew of mystery performers might have based on clues.

Kids will spend 11 minutes dressing Spike up like a princess.

How about two minutes to brush their teeth?

Brushing for two minutes now can save your child from severe tooth pain later. Two minutes, twice a day. They have the time. For fun, 2-minute videos to watch while brushing, go to 2min2x.org.
